HOT DEALS!

Bueno macho (buck). That's what my guide said, right before he said SHOOOOOT, SHOOOOOT! Hunting anything in Mexico is difficult due to their strict firearms and ammunition laws and the inconsistancy of the authorities making the decisions once you arrive. This hunt in Sonora, Caborca, Mexico went smooth and easy. We arrived late in the afternoon with about 30 minutes of light left. The ranch house is in the middle of the 100,000 acre ranch and you can be in deer in less than 5 seconds.....and that is what happened. As soon as we left Big Hector spotted a Muy Grande Macho and said shoot, shoot. I have no problem shooting on the first day of a 7 day hunt because I've passed before and it came back to haunt me. But this time I could not get the rifle up fast enough because I was not prepared to see deer so fast. The buck ran behind cactus and brush and we never saw it again, in fact we did not see many deer at all the rest of the hunt thanks to the unseasonally hot conditions. I thought I would be going home with nodda until we spotted this deer the next to the last day. He was with three hembras (does) following their every move. The last day of my hunt it started getting colder and we started seeing more deer and machos starting to chase hembras. Big Hector said the next two weeks should really be good.....story of my life. :)

S.W.F.A. Inc.'s Handshake Guarantee:

We do business based on a very simple idea. If you're not 100% satisfied with our products or service, we'll refund your money! Just return any new or unused item to us within 10 days from the date delivered. Include a copy of your receipt, and we'll issue a refund. Shipping charges are not refundable. We can not accept returns on special orders!

110% Low Price Guarantee

If you find a lower price at any competitor's store on a new identical item, just show us the lower price when you buy the item at SWFA or within 10 days after your SWFA purchase and we'll give you 110% of the difference (up to $55.00). Our 10-day price-match guarantee is good on everything from optics to accessories. The item must be in stock and available for purchase at that price from a company (excluding wholesale or membership clubs) with a physical store location in the U.S. who is authorized by the manufacturer to sell the product.

• Other Discounts: Available coupons and rebates will be deducted from the SWFA price to come up with a new SWFA price when calculating the price match. For example, if you buy an item from us for $100 and we offer a $10 rebate, the net price is $90. If the item is available from another company for $90 or more, there will be no price match. Another example would be if you buy an item from us for $139 and you have a $30 coupon; the net price is $109. If the item is available from another company for $105 the price match will be for $4.40 (110% of the difference).

• Special Offers: If another company offers a product that comes with a free or discounted item and SWFA does not carry the free or discounted item, there will be no price match. For example, if another company offers a free product with the purchase of a scope, and the SWFA price is equal to the company's price for the scope, there will be no price match if SWFA does not carry the free product being offered.

• Price Verification: SWFA reserves the right to verify another company's product availability and price before issuing a price match guarantee. Computer screenshots are not acceptable as proof of a competitor's price – the lower price must be accurate and live on a competitor's site at the time of the price-match.

• Shipping and handling: These charges are included when comparing our price to another company's delivery price, the equivalent shipping and handling charges will be included. If proof of the other company's shipping and handling charges are not supplied, then our standard shipping and handling charges will be added to the other company's price. For example, if you buy an item from us for $100, with $10 shipping and handling, and the item is available from another company for $90 with shipping and handling charges of $7, then the difference is $13. You would receive 110% of $13, which is $14.30.

• Exclusions: We price match almost everything. We don't price match products and services provided or sold at local or special events (e.g., grand opening, anniversary, clearance or liquidation sales), items sold at wholesale/membership clubs or products sold on Internet auction sites. We also don't price match taxes, typographical errors or any item or price that includes a rebate. SWFA is not responsible for mis-prints and typos.

• Item must be identical: For example, it must have the same U.S. manufacturer's warranty. It must also have the same model number and contain the same components.

• Quantity Limits: We may limit the quantity of an item that may be price-matched. For example, if the other company limits the number you may buy, we may also limit the number. In addition, SWFA reserves the right to limit quantities sold to a customer.

"SOMETIMES THE HUNT STARTS WELL BEFORE THE SEASON."

I had this old boy spotted way before the season opened. Spending some quality time glassing before hunting is the best way I know to have a memorable fall. I wasn't able to put my tag on him during the first part of archery season, but I kept an eye on him and timed my next move.

Agriculture is big in this part of Colorado and the deer seem to step right out into the fields from a jungle of Pinion and Juniper. I had to do some belly crawling across a pretty open field to get within range, but it all worked out in the end. He is one of the best-looking mulies I've ever taken. You know—I might have shot him with the bow, but he was as good as done when I first saw him through my binocular!

Hunters like Phil have to put a lot of faith in their equipment—which is why he trusts his hunt to Nikon Monarch All Terrain Binoculars.

"Another day in Iraq, another successful patrol, and one happy SWFA customer."

The aimpoint pictured on this M4 is not issued. The teams got all we had, and the battalion guys made do with whatever they could scrounge. I figured this may be the case, so before deploying in the spring of 2003, I purchased my own M68 from SWFA. I needed it NOW and SWFA had them in stock---the only dealer who did at that time---and SWFA shipped it to me within days of my order. It was in my hands before my port-call.

This photo was taken by my gunner (unnamed current operator) in July 2004 near BIAP. As intel indicates: "Don't shoot the Americans with pockets on their sleeves. They will kill you. Just lay down and surrender..." Heheh.

U.S. ARMY APPROVED

Aimpoint U.S. Army Contract

After 18 months of rigorous testing, only one red dot sight earns the U.S. Army's seal of approval - AIMPOINT! The U.S. Army dropped, baked, froze, and submerged sights from leading manufacturers during an eighteen month testing period to determine which sight could withstand the most punishing military conditions. After outscoring the competition in both operational and developmental testing, Aimpoint sights are the only sights chosen for the U.S. Army contract. Aimpoint sights are not only the choice of the U.S. Army, but the U.S. Special Forces, the Federal Bureau of Investigations, S.W.A.T. teams, and elite military units around the world.

ATN 10x65Z RIFLESCOPE
NEW 2007

One of the Wildest Looking riflescopes I've seen in a long rime is the 10x65Z Army Mil-Dot model just introduced by the American Technologies Network Corp (ATN). This innovative, fixed-power 10x scope features a massive 65mm objective lens with a built-in sunshade and spring-loaded protective cap.

Scopes with oversized objectives — and I can't think of any sporting scope with a larger lens than this — typically position their eyepieces high above the bore. Viewing the target through these elevated lenses requires a tall-combed stock or holding your head unnaturally high. The ATN scope solves this problem with the help of a patented prismatic design, which allows offsetting the eyepiece from the centerline of the scope in the same way a porro-prism binocular does. Your eye lies comfortably behind the dogleg eyepiece (which offers three inches of eye relief), while taking full advantage of the generous viewing field (170 feet at 1,000 yards). The eyepiece features fast, European-style focusing, while the huge objective is parallax-adjustable from 30 yards to infinity.

The gargantuan 65mm objective lens provides a full 6.5mm exit pupil that delivers all the light your eye can handle. The reticle consists of medium-thick outer legs with thinner crosshairs at the center. The center crosshairs feature mil-dots for range estimation and instant windage compensation. The reticle can be turned into glowing red crosshairs in low-light situations via a rheostat knob offering 11 different degrees of illumination intensity. Power comes from a standard 3-volt CR2032 or CR2432 lithium battery, which provides 100 hours of continuous illumination. When battery power is turned off, the reticle appears as plain black crosshairs against a light green viewing field.

Optical quality is very good. Lenses are made of high-grade optical glass, with multicoated surfaces to maximize light transmission. The scope housing is constructed of air craft-aluminum alloy, high-carbon steel alloy and titanium, and has a black anodized finish. It's waterproof to a depth of 66 feet. ATN representative, James Munn, tells me the scope is produced at the company's manufacturing facilities in the Ukraine. While the 10x65Z mil-dot scope has obvious police and military applications, Mann noted that many hunters and sportsmen are also purchasing the scope.

The windage and elevation turrets used for sighting in the scope feature 1/8 minute-of-angle (MOA) click adjustments. Another neat thing about this scope is its unique bullet-drop compensating feature. Once the scope is zeroed at 200 yards, turning an exterior knob atop the elevation turret automatically creates the right holdover for 400,600,800 and 1,000-yard shooting. Click-stops are provided at each of these ranges, but the dial can be set at intermediate distances. Five interchangeable bullet-drop-compensating cams come with each scope, allowing it to be used on .223, .308, .30-06, .300 magnum and .50 BMG rifles (the .50 BMG dial is calibrated to 1,800 yards). Switching cams takes only a couple of seconds.

The 10x65Z ATN scope comes complete with a sturdy mount that fits Picatinny- or Weaver-style bases. Mounting is a cinch. Simply loosen a pair of thumbscrews on the left side of the mount, slide the mount over the firearm's dovetail base, and retighten the screws.

While the new scope offers a clear, bright viewing field coupled with 10x magnification and interchangeable bullet-drop-compensating knobs, it has one drawback for sportsmen. Tipping the scales at a solid 3 lbs. 5 oz., few hunters will be thrilled at the prospect of adding this kind of heft to any rifle they plan to tote very far afield. This isn't an important concern for precision shooters or police and military marksmen, but will make many hunters think twice. Prairie dog shooters, however, don't mind extra bulk and heft, and I may take one of these scopes afield next varmint season for additional testing. The big 10x65Z ATN scope could also be highly effective for shooting long-range deer from an elevated tower blind.

DAY/NIGHT

Not just Night Vision, a Day and Night sight. Any ATN Day Night starts as the best daytime scope. Huge 65mm or 80mm objective and 40mm or 42mm tube combined with the best, German quality multi-coated glass on the market makes this sight the best light gathering device for shooting in the world. An array of features that will dazzle any marksmen include parallax-free construction; 4 to 12 or 2 - 6 variable Power Zoom, 1000-Yard Bullet drop Compensator with interchangeable cams for six calibers, 1000 Yard Range Finder and a super sharp, illuminated reticle with 11 light settings. Additional featues include 1/8 MOA adjustment at 100 yards, 100% weather resistance and Matte Black mil-spec finish with beryllium powder coating. With a simple twist of the eyepiece you can remove the daytime riflescope eyepiece and replace it with a Night Vision eyepiece converting your scope into a high quality, very accurate night vision weapon sight. This ingenious Day / Night system allows the shooter to go from day to night in less then 30 seconds without toos, without changes in eye relief and remain zeroed all around the clock. A separate, removable, most powerful in the world (450mW) long-range InfraredIlluminator is also included to provide the user with total darkness capability. Furthermore the US goverment just granted ATN with a patent for the feature that prevents Tube burn by the illuminated reticle. ATN Day / Night Riflescopes are successfully deployed in War on Terror, both in Iraq and Afghanistan.

ULTRASIGHTS

ATN Ultra sights: The Ultra Sights by ATN are designed to be both eyes open, heads-up, rapid acquisition reflex sights. A revolutionary design lets you choose between four reticle patterns in the ATN Ultra sight and five reticle patterns in the ATN Digital Ultra sight. An 11-position adjustment for brightness and accurate windage and elevation system make the Ultra Sights some of the best Reflex Sights on the market. ATN Ultra Sight Digital Compact: The new ultra sight digital compact is designed to be a both eyes open, heads-up, rapid acquisition reflex sight. At half the size with similar features of the regular Digital Ultra sight, the ultra sight compact is the latest in reflex sights.

PROFESSIONAL / TACTICAL

The Professional series project began in 1995. At that time, ATN a optical facility famous for successful adaptation of design techniques and manufacturing procedures from a well-know German optical manufacturer. In this merger ATN gained the staff and production plant resible for creating some of the best quality glass for the military, medical and satellite industries. Since the acquisition, ATN has added their own innovative engineers and modern machinery, to bring new ideas and techniques to ATN's factory.

The ATN Professional series riflescopes are the only scopes in the world with Everlight and Proshield Lens Coatings. The revolutionary Everlight coatings is designed to enhance the resolution and contrast of your image in extremely bright conditions. When there is too much light you will normally notice a degraded optical image, which is prevented by ATN's Everlight coating. Some of the leading scope manufacturers have been installing less reliable mechanical aperture shutters to compensate for this problem. The Proshield coating is a mixture of anti-scratch, anti-condensation, anti-static and anti-glare coatings. In addition, a one-piece tubing and special seal makes the professional series scopes truly durable and weather resistant. More reliable then other with click adjustment of 1/8" MOA at 100 yards.

If you own a .50 Cal. BMG our 12-36x80 is a must. Specifically designed for this potent rifle, the 12-36x80 has a 1000-yard BDC and a 3000-yard range finder built-in. The custom designed mounting ring, which incorporates the BDC, insures easy and precise adjustments. An 10 position illuminated reticle prevents you from losing sight of your reticle even in the darkest of conditions. The 80mm lens is one of the largest objective lenses available giving you the brightest image possible.

.17 HOT MAGNUM

Waiting to unleash the GI in you? Wait no more! Consider Barska's .17 Hot Magnum series your personal drill sergeant with a list of commanding features on the scope. Engineered with the revolutionary bullet-drop technology, these scopes are guaranteed to make you an extreme performer when it comes to the .17 Magnum Rimfire shooting.

Bullet Drop Technology - To provide extreme accuarcy for the .17 Magnum Rimfire caliber, the scope's elevation knob is precisely calculated to compensate for the elliptical drop of the .17 Magnum Rimfire with a 17 grain bullet. Once you complete the zeroing process at 100 yards, all you have to do is match the elevation turret indicator with 100yds marking on the knob. From this point, your trajectory can be compensated for any yards from 100 up to 300 yards simply by turning the elevation knob to the desired setting.

- Pre-calculated Trajectory compensation from 100 to 300 yards by the turn of a dial
- Specifically engineered for .17 Magnum Rimfire Rifle
- Elevation Knob claculated to compensate for the elliptical drop of the .17 Magnum with a 17 grain bullet

Tactical 1.5-4.5x20

"ACCU-LOCK" replaces the more traditional style recoil springs with a retractable steel post. It securely locks the inner tube, allowing your accuracy to stay in place firmly. Just a simple turn of the key (included) unlocks the Locking system, letting you make precise windage and elevation adjustments. When you tighten it back down, the scope is locked dead on target. This helps the scope maintain zero and pinpoint accuracy at multiple distances.

*FIRST FOCAL PLANE MIL-DOT RETICLE allows you to estimate range at all different magnification settings. With the reticle at first focal plane, the reticle expands as the magnification increases. This creates dead-on precision and accuracy.(FFP on Tactical series only).

Adjust from 50 - 300 yards instantly with any of the Sweet .17, Sweet .22 or Mach II .17 BSA Riflescopes.

SWEET .17

Designed using technology similar to the sniper trajectory compensation scopes, the Sweet 17 elevation drum increments are precisely calculated to compensate for the elliptic drop of a .17 HMR/17 grain bullet.

Simply
- Zero the scope at 100 yards
- Loosen the screws of the elevation drum
- Turn the drum until the 100 yard marking matches the elevation turret indicator
- Retighten the screws.

Now you can compensate the trajectory of a bullet for any distance between 100 and 300 yards by just turning the elevation drum to the desired elevation marking.

SWEET .22

Trajectory compensated scopes for target and varmint shooters. Designed for the .22 bullet, the trajectory is compensated from 50 to 175 yards. Features a quick change turret system with 3 drums included for 36, 38 and 40 grain bullets.

MACH II .17

BSA has developed this scope that features a bullet drop compensator calibrated specifically for the 17 grain 17 HM2 bullet. These scopes feature windage and elevation turrets, waterproof, fogproof and shockproof construction.

PLATINUM TARGET

The optical and mechanical tolerances inside the scope are extremely close and tight so the consistency of accuracy is great. The lenses are camera quality and 1/8 MOA clicks on the windage and elevation turrets are precise. All the mechanics of good target scope were done right including Nitrogen filled chambers for waterproof, fog proof and shockproof.

Dad says that, thanks to you guys, he was able to buy two BSA 8-32x40 CONTENDER scopes. We also placed 2nd and 3rd in the PA Keystone Games in the Women's Division. Our sister, April, (she's 17) won first place. We are only 14 years old, but dad says that thanks to you guys we are closing in on our sister real fast.
Thanks a lot.

The Kudu was taken in Namibia last August with Ozondjahe Safaris. I would recommend their ranch and services highly. I took all animals on this trip with a Rifles Inc. Classic (Model 70 action) in .338 Winchester Magnum topped with a Leica Ultravid 3.5-10x42 scope. Ammo was Winchester Supreme ammo with the 225 gr. Accubond bullet. The Kudu was fully mature and carried very symmetrical horns with both sides being very heavy, ivory tipped, and fractionally under 57 inches (green).

RIFLESCOPES

"The Burris Fullfield II 3-9x40 with Ballistic Plex seemed to be good optics and a great value, and Chris at SWFA agreed. With the scope mounted, I sighted in my rifle with a favorite handload. The season arrived and my friend and I backpacked deep into the Colorado wilderness. Early the first morning, we climbed a mountain that I had found rams on several weeks earlier. After some glassing we managed to find a group of rams bedded down. Then, we stalked as close as possible, and after a short time the ram I wanted rose and began feeding up a ravine. He would soon disappear behind rocks, perhaps forever. My rangefinder said 270 yards, and the moment of truth had arrived. The scope reticle floated over the ram's chest, and when the rifle went off I knew he was mine. Precise ranging and using the ballistic-plex reticle gave me confidence. Sure enough the ram made it only about 10 yards and collapsed. We picked our way down the mountain to the ram and stood in awe of this magnificent animal. All of the pieces must come together to make the hunt of lifetime successful. One critical piece is optical equipment that makes possible the shot of a lifetime.

– Kevin Jones

Fullfield II 3-9x40

Fullfield II Tactical
4.5-14x42

FULLFIELD II

Fullfield has represented the ideal combination of optical and mechanical performance with affordability. Recent enhancements which spawned the Fullfield II generation only serve to further the line's reputation for rugged dependability and optical accuracy. Features include more forgiving fore/aft, left/right eye positioning and a combination of lighter weight, shorter length and added strength.

Fullfield II eliminated most of the potential leak paths in the eyepiece/power ring area and sealed the remainder with special quad seals instead of O-rings. The adjustment system has been moved to improve mounting options and the European-style adjustable eyepiece requires no locking mechanism.

FULLFIELD II TACTICAL

As with many things in life, once you reach a high level of quality you can further spend a whole lot more in cash for a small amount more in performance. The Burris Fullfield II Tactical line of riflescopes represent outstanding performance at a great value.

Starting with a proven high performance optical system that features high grade lenses and the Burris-exclusive index-matched HiLume lens multicoatings on all lens surfaces, these scopes deliver very bright and clear optical performance and proven tough duty mechanical performance.

Each Burris Fullfield II Tactical features a Type III Mil-Spec Olive Drab or Matte Black hard anodize and a special non-reflective low sheen finish. Those who actually have to hump it in the hills with their tactical rifles will also appreciate a new "lighter" way of looking at tactical optics. These Burris Fullfield II Tacticals weight in at some 25% to 50% less than other scopes in this performance range.

The TAC-2 adjustment knobs are not the giant knobs seen on some other tactical scopes. Rather, TAC-2 knobs provide ease-of-use, easy accessibility, dust covers to keep the dirt, dust and rust out of the adjustment system, and fairly low profile to facilitate more comfortable carry in the field.

The Ballistic Plex

This easy-to-use trajectory-compensating reticle works for just about any cartridge. We include thirty calibration labels with each scope to match your load. Just sight-in at 100 or 200 yards with your highest magnification, determine the distance to your target and use the appropriate ballistic line.

RIFLESCOPES

I harvested this beautiful Quebec-Labrador bull from Artic Quebec Canada on a self guided hunt with Arctic Adventures (916-877-7907). Seeing hundreds of animals a day with my Leica 10x42 binoculars made it easy to judge this trophy and take the shot with my Rifles Inc. 6.5 STW topped with a Leica Ultravid rifle scope (no longer mfg.)

XTREME TACTICAL XTR

In recognition of the sacrifices being made by America's law enforcement and peacekeeping forces around the world, Burris has made a commitment to develop and provide the ultimate in dependable, precise, effective tactical optics. Burris' XT-1 Tactical Adjustment Knobs feature the precision and durability of Steel-on-Steel construction, both radial and vertical resettable zero reference, +(up) and -(down) revolution indicators, extreme environment quick detach adjustment dust caps, all for the most accurate, secure and repeatable adjustments. 25% thicker outer tube wall cross section resulting in 42% more strength. Integrated Eyepiece and Power ring with deep relief grooves for maximum durability and swiftness in changing magnification.

MINI/COMPACT

Burris considers compacts to be much more than an afterthought. They equip their compacts with fully multicoated lens systems, up to 5 inches of eye relief, crystal-clear clarity and tough-as-nails construction. The Mini Series scopes compact design and close focusing parallax make them a perfect choice for RIMFIRE applications as well as centerfire.

This reticle combines a standard Mil-Dot with a special Burris design on the lower vertical crosshair that automatically compensates for bullet drop. The Ballistic Mil-Dot is set to provide deadon aiming from 100 yards to 600 yards and beyond for flat shooting rifle cartridges. The other three Mil-Dot sections can be used to determine distance and help compensate for wind drift. The power ring has a calibration mark set at 14 power.

This easy-to-use trajectory-compensating reticle-works for just about any cartridge. We include thirty calibration labels with each scope to match your load. Just sight-in at 100 or 200 yards with your highest magnification, determine the distance to target and use the appropriate ballistic line.

LASER RANGEFINDING SCOPE

Finally, the integration of a high-performance laser rangefinder into a quality riflescope has been successfully executed. The Burris LaserScope combines rugged, recoil-proof construction with the latest in sophisticated micro-circuit technology in a seductive package at an affordable price. The LaserScope includes the popular Burris Ballistic Plex reticle and our experienced mechanical engineers have designed a patented mounting system that provides an ultra-low mounting configuration. Available in 4X-12X-42mm, Effective range is 800 yards on reflective objects.

RIFLESCOPES

If it had not been for the Burris 4-16x44 AO scope I purchased from SWFA and my wife for spotting the coyote I would have never been able to range this shot I made in the neck at 450 yards with my 7MM Bench rest rifle. I took the shot off the bumper of my pick up. I wish you all could have seen it.

SIGNATURE SELECT

Last year's introduction of the upgraded Burris Signature Series line has proven to be a tremendous success. Shooters loved the ergonomic enhancements like the deep relief grooves on the power ring and parallax adjust ring and the centrally located adjustment turret which provided more mounting options, and a handsome balanced look. The shooter-viewable, easy-to-grip power ring integrated with the eyepiece was also well received as was the non-slip ring of rubber on the internally focusable eyepiece ring. Of course, Burris fully index-match Hi-Lume multi-coat every surface of every premium quality lens. Internal lenses are some 65% larger in surface area than that of a great many other 1" scopes on the market, and in fact significantly larger than most scopes with 30mm outer tubes. Several Burris Signature Select boast a versatile four-times magnification range and a generous 3 1/2" to 4" of eye relief. The finger-adjustable, shooter-viewable adjustment dials are all resettable to zero. Judging by the response so far, the new Burris Signature Select lineup looks to be destined for greatness.

SHORT MAG

Extreme conditions require specialized equipment and that's where the Burris XTS-135 Xtreme Tactical SpeedDot makes's it's mark. The Burris XTS-135 Xtreme Tactical SpeedDot provides fully waterproof, fogproof, and severe automatic shockproof performance with 11 brightness settings and a high definition red dot. Four different height rings to choose from allows either ultra low mounting or mounting such that the red dot can be sighted in and viewed directly above the iron sights allowing instant use of iron sights through the Burris XTS even during battery failure.

SIGNATURE SAFARI

Last year's introduction of the upgraded Burris Signature Safari line has proven to be a tremendous success. Shooters loved the ergonomic enhancements like the deep relief grooves on the power ring and parallax adjust ring and the centrally located adjustment turret which provided more mounting options, and a handsome balanced look. BLACK DIAMOND, BLACK DIAMOND TITANIUM & EURO DIAMOND RIFLESCOPES

BLACK DIAMOND

Burris' customers have repeatedly asked us to incorporate a side focus on these scopes for convenience, while they were at it, they streamlined them a bit, made them a bit shorter, significantly lighter weight, and they can be mounted lower on a rifle. But other than that, they didn't change much. Of course they left the other features alone such as the famous image brightness, clarity, resolution, finger-adjustable and resettable adjustment dials, generous 3 1/2" to 4" of eye relief, durability, and value.

BLACK DIAMOND TITANIUM

The photo above shows the raw strength of Black Diamond Titanium scopes. Features the highly acclaimed Black Diamond optical system. The entire scope and eyepiece are sculpted out of solid titanium. Burris has coated each scope with aluminum titanium nitride. This makes for an ultra-hard surface that's completely impervious to corrosion. In addition, Burris Titanium rifle scopes boast Burris' exclusive T-Plated™ scratch-proof lenses.

EURO DIAMOND

Burris designed this exciting, new line of 30mm riflescopes especially for low light hunting situations. They combined optical and mechanical excellence with a collection of hunter friendly ergonomics and sensuous lines in a package that promises to give the pricey European brands a new standard to shoot for. The reticle is in the second focal plane so it does not get larger like European scopes.

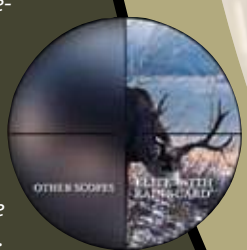
ELITE

RAINGUARD

Introducing RainGuard, the revolutionary lens coating system which increases light transmission to 95% on 4200 series and is now available exclusively on Elite Riflescopes. RainGuard is a special water repellent coating on which condensation forms in much smaller droplets when the scope is exposed to rain, fog or snow. These droplets result in a much clearer and more usable view. Water actually sheets off of RainGuard coated lenses much more readily than from a standard coating. Now, the hunter will not miss the shot of a lifetime because he accidently breathed on his scope eyepiece while aiming.



Bushnell is so proud of their BUSHNELL ELITE riflescopes that their materials and workmanship are warranteed to be free of defects for the life of the ELITE riflescope. The warranty is available to any owners of the ELITE riflescope. No receipt or warranty card is required. This warranty does not cover damages caused by misuse or improper handling, installation or maintenance of the riflescope.

ELITE 3200 RAINGUARD

The Elite 3200 offers multi-coated optics for generous light transmission and crisp image quality. To prevent light distortion from moisture, the exclusive, patented Rainguard lens coating reduces large drops of water into near microscopic specks. Scattering far less light, their significantly smaller size results in dramatically increased light transmission and a Remarkably clearer image in wet weather (including condensation from your own breath). Like the Elite 4200 the Elite 3200 riflescopes also feature ultra strong, one-piece hammer-forged aluminum and titanium alloy tubes which are 30% stronger than standard aluminum scopes. They are also recoil-tested to 1000 rounds of a .375 H&H Magnum. With 1/4 M.O.A. fingertip, audible/resettable windage and elevation adjustments, the 3200 offers everything the most avid and discriminating hunter requires.

ELITE 4200 RAINGUARD

Bar none, it's the brightest scope in the world. Boasting 95% light transmission at 550nm, this is the top-of-the-line riflescope. The exclusive, hydrophobic Rainguard lens coating, which disperses condensation into microscopic specks, allowing you to literally see around the moisture ensures you won't miss that trophy buck because you breathed on your eyepiece or you couldn't wipe the rain away in time. All optical lens surfaces are fully multi-coated for the absolute maximum light transmission and the sharpest image. Fingertip, audible/resettable 1/4 M.O.A. adjustments make windage and elevation tuning quick and easy. The ultra-strong one-piece tube is hammer-forged from an aluminum and titanium alloy for 30% more strength than standard aluminum scopes - and to be sure it lasts, it is recoil-tested to 10,000 rounds of a .375 H&H Magnum! Finally, the Elite 4200 scopes offer some of the largest magnification ranges in the industry for optimum versatility in the most challenging hunting situations. In the world of big game pursuit, there are hunters - and there are serious hunters. If you consider yourself the latter, the Elite 4200 is the scope that does justice to your commitment.

FIREFLY GLOWING RETICLE

Developed by Bushnell® engineers especially for the lowest light hunting situations, the FireFly™ reticle illuminates the cross hairs after only a quick 10 second charge with a flashlight. Unlike battery-powered reticles - which often fail at the absolute worst times - the FireFly reticle will glow green and you will see your crosshairs against the animal. Look for the FireFly reticle on select models of our Elite 4200 and 3200 riflescopes. It's the pinnacle of reticle innovation.

RIFLESCOPES

Here is a picture (taken 11/28/04) of my eleven year old son, John, shortly after shooting his first South Carolina wild boar. The boar weighed 200lbs and had 1" tusks. John was using a .243 NEF Youth Handi-rifle, outfitted with a Bushnell Elite 4200 scope - purchased through Chris Farris at SWFA. The scope has an illuminated-dot reticle that really helped when he sighted in on the dark animal. The pig entered the foodplot we were hunting at 5:26 p.m. He began moving diagonally from our left to right. I told John to go for the neck what it came to a stop. John fired one shot at 45 yds, dropping the pig in its tracks (neck shot). It was a great day and I was very proud of my hunting partner.

RIFLESCOPES

Our practice range faces southwest on the southern most tip of Texas. The backstop berm is built 100 yards from the river that divides the US from Mexico. This is a perfect spot to shoot with a steady wind from the southeast. Hitting targets out to 700 yards is relatively easy with our .308 SPHD Rifles, but for close work we prefer our EOTechs! The EOTechs are perfect for fast target acquisition and removal. We searched the SWFA websites for the best Holo type site at a good price. We decided on the EOTech 550 Military Series so that we could use them with our NVGs. We tried to save a few more bucks and go with a slightly cheaper version, but when we got the package we were pleasantly surprised. The model we ordered was out of stock so instead of making us wait, they upgraded our order and gave us a more expensive model that takes the standard AA batteries. With deals and savings like that, why would you want to shop anywhere else? Sniper's Paradise San Benito, Texas 78586 www.SnipersParadise.com

SPECTER DR

The Elcan SpecterDR Dual Role Optical Sight represents a revolution in optical sight design. The world's first truly dual field of view combat optical sight, the Elcan SpecterDR switches instantly from a 4x magnified sight to a 1x CQB sight with the throw of a lever. Unlike zoom sights, the Elcan SpecterDR offers an optimized optical path and identical eye relief in both 4x and 1x modes.

Depending upon the situation, the user may adjust the sight to illuminate the entire crosshair or just a 1.5 MOA Dot in the center. In 1x mode, the Elcan SpecterDR has by far the largest field of view in the industry. In 4x mode the Elcan Specter DR offers a generous field of view, long eye relief, and Elcan's legendary crystal clear image. The Elcan SpecterDR offers the best single solution for both CQB and Long Range engagements and is designed to withstand the rigors of modern professional use.

SPECTER M145

Specifically designed by ELCAN for the US Army and other elite fighting teams, the SpecterM145 is the US government model (NSM 1240-01-411-6350) of the ELCAN 3.4x magnification optical rifle sight. The front objective is fitted with a laser filter and Signature Reduction Device. The 10m-1200m ranging reticule is illuminated by a rotary switch (11 levels plus Off). The standard weaver with cross-slots rail mount (Picatinny) attaches quickly with a single torque-limited knob and provides all windage and elevation zeroing corrections. SPECTER IR

ELCAN is a leader in un-cooled IR technologies and has applied this expertise to develop Specter IR, a simple to use, affordable thermal weapon sight for military and homeland defense. SpecterIR+ is the latest upgraded version that provides even greater range and resolution capabilities. Unlike image intensification night sights, Specter IR+ easily separates heat-emitting targets from background clutter and will not bloom when hit by direct artificial light. A new tool in the War on Terrorism and for Homeland Security. ELCAN's new low-cost thermal weapon sight is specially designed for owning the night in "no light" and difficult visual conditions. Built to the same exacting standards as the ELCAN optical sight, the SpecterIR is a lightweight, simple-to-operate passive thermal scope capable of detecting and acquiring man-sized targets at 300m. SpecterIR is fully shock protected and water proofed for rigorous field-use conditions. Unlike image intensified night vision sights, SpecterIR easily distinguishes heat-emitting targets from background and will not "bloom" when hit by direct artificial light. The SpecterIR+ by ELCAN is an up-graded version using the latest un-cooled 320x240 infrared detector technology matched with superb ELCAN optical performance. The result is a simple-to-use thermal weapon sight under 3 lbs with the extended range performance needed for combat situations. SpecterIR+ also incorporates new capabilities with a 2X digital zoom, switchable reticles, and integrated digital magnetic compass in the viewfinder.

I spotted this buck bedded down behind some sage brush on the side of what us Texans would call a mountain. We were forming the game plan when some does must have winded us, causing the bedded buck to get up and trot off behind them. We stayed put for a good thirty minutes then started our pursuit but could only get within 250 yards because of the terrain. Fortunately for me there was an 8 foot sheep herders "rock tower" between him and me that allowed me to close the distance a little more and provide the perfect rest (you can see it in the background). While I was prepared and had planned for longer shots this was a mere chip shot for my VX-III 4.5-14 Boone & Crockett.

WORLD'S FIRST HOLO GRAPHIC SIGHT

THE MAGIC OF HOLOGRAPHY

In holography, all the information required to reconstruct the reticle image is recorded everywhere in the Heads-Up display window. If the window is obstructed by mud, snow, rain, etc., the HDS remains fully operational, with point of aim/impact being maintained. Even in such extreme cases where the laminated window is shattered, the HDS is fully functional! As long as the operator can see through any portion of the window, the entire reticle pattern is visible on target...the operator can still engage with confidence.

HOLOGRAPHIC DIFFRACTION SIGHTS (HDS)

The HDS is designed to withstand Mil-Spec drop tests and still remian fully operational and hold zero. The HDS has been extensively tested in a punishing recoil simulator generating 3,500 G's of acceleration in less than 0.5 milliseconds (the recoil of a .454 Casull revolver) as well as various environmental chambers. The Heads Up Display is constructed with a 3 layer, shatterproof laminate glass that is 3/16" thick for added durability. Additional protection of the Heads Up Display is provided with a "roll bar" ruggedized hood on the 510 and 550 series.

The EOTechís field-of-view (FOV) is nearly 4 times as wide as the Aimpoint Comp M2s.

Greater FOV means improved situational awareness and faster threat identification.

The HWS offers 10 night vision reticle settings compared to the Aimpoint Compís four settings.

*These photographs are NOT altered. Both Images were taken through an ITT AN/PVS-14 Night Vision Scope mounted 2" behind the optic. The camera was equal distance from the PVS-14 in both photos.

HUNTING SERIES RIFLESCOPE

This is a photo of my son Eric, he wants to shoot every chance we can. I put this rig together for him, an IOR 2.5x10x56 from SWFA on a .222 rem. Great rig for a kid! We spot and call for each other. When he shot this 5 shot group at 100 yards in the photo I had called his first three, then let him finish the last two shots silent. He has learned quality optics are a must, when he saw one of my rounds going down range out to 500 yards through our spotting scope he was impressed that he could pick it up, "nice to have young eyes." – Curt Drewel

I had been trying for two years to get my girlfriend to partake in the sport, but she was a little shy about firearms. A business student at Ohio State, she suddenly announced one day that "if" she made it through calculus, she wanted to "shoot up" her math book. Well, she made it. With the clear glass of a freshly mounted IOR 6x42, Kylie had a good view of those hated derivatives and formulas blowing through the air at 100 yards. Now she's talking law school.....

This picture was taken by one of my soldiers as I was taking a shot at about 450 meters, which was right on target even after months of abuse and HMMWV rides since its last zeroing session. My IOR 4x24 was a great scope and the BDC calibrated for the NATO 5.56 round worked perfect for my needs. After seeing mine, several of my soldiers bought this scope from you as well to mount on their weapons. We all used ARMS #22 QD mounts which never lost their zero when removed to be replaced with our issued Aimpoint for CQB. We were refered to you guys from the designated marksmanship training team at Fort Hood, Texas. Thanks for the great product at a price even soldiers can afford.

CL 1" MULTIZERO

Same ground breaking design as the standard CL with the all new innovative Multizero™ feature. Gives you five rifle zero settings for multible ranges, multible loads, even multible guns. Multizero™ model also includes the new "Reticle Placement Indicator" that identifies reticle location inside the scope for more accurate scope mounting and also reveals mounting problems before they occur.

CL 1"

New from the ground up with third turret parallax adjustment standard on all models. AMV lens coatings and a larger, fast focus, ocular system with extended eye relief, increased field of view and sharpened edge-to-edge resolution, stronger internal spring system and "caps off" water proof submersible turrets make the new CL line the finest 1" rifle scope in the world.

CS 30MM MULTIZERO

Same ground breaking design as the standard CS with the all new innovative Multizero™ feature. Gives you five rifle zero settings for multible ranges, multible loads, even multible guns. Multizero™ model also includes the new "Reticle Placement Indicator" that identifies reticle location inside the scope for more accurate scope mounting and also reveals mounting problems before they occur.

multizero

This new Multizero™ system is completely different from standard elevation turret systems, military ballistic cams or target turrets. The unique features of this product are:

- The KAHLES Multizero™ system, a revolutionary "micro-mechanic" ballistic system that will allow users to pre-set up to five different sight settings on the scope.
- Four individually adjustable "micro-discs" allow the user to set four additional sight settings in addition to their base sight setting (five total settings) on these new scopes. These individually adjustable micro-discs make this one ballistic system work for any centerfire, rimfire, shotgun slug or muzzleloader hunting rifle.
- Patented RPI "Reticle Placement Indicator" allows the user to identify the location of the reticle inside the scope after the sight-in process.
- Note: This feature is EXTREMELY helpful since many firearm manufacturers and ring & base manufacturers do not have accuracy tolerances to mount the scope on the rifle straight.

- An internal "micro-clutch" allows the user to disengage the turret from the internal erector system and reset the turret so the initial sight setting is at the beginning (the base) of the turret revolution. This micro-clutch establishes a "stop-lock" at your base sight setting so the user can immediately return to their base setting without having to look at the dial.

The Multizero™ allows you to sight in a firearm at up to five different distances, mark those distances and then use the turret dial to move back and forth between those pre-set distances. These distances can be individually selected and changed at any time. However, if your hunting distances won't be changing but the species will, the multizero™ has the ability to allow the user to zero in up to five different bullet weights for one specific distance.

KAHLES RIFLESCOPE LOST IN THE 1970s, WAS FOUND - TECHNICALLY IN PERFECT CONDITION

A professional hunter in Southern Austria inadvertently performed the longest, most realistic, environmental test on a riflescope in history. A Kahles Helia 6x42 riflescope, lost in the high mountain region of the Austrian Alps in the late 70s was recently found in technically perfect working condition.

Back in September 1977 on a Chamois stalk, a Jaegermeister (Professional Hunter) from Southern Austrian Carinthia climbed to the top of "Kometeralpe", a 2,500-meter picturesque mountain. After shooting a Chamois with his Mannlicher Luxus 6.5x57 topped with a Kahles Helia 6x42 riflescope, the PH rested his firearm against a boulder and ascended to where the game was taken. After field dressing his animal he returned to the spot where he believed he had left the rifle. Unfortunately the PH had to spend the entire afternoon searching for his gear, however it was not found. In the ensuing days and weeks, he regularly returned to the area searching for his rifle, but was unsuccessful finding it. Weeks, months, years, and decades passed. High above the timberline, rifle and scope rested upright against the boulder being abused by the harsh elements of nature at this high elevation. Summer heat and dust, followed by strong storms, heavy showers of ice and snow tested the durability of the scope and rifle.

Almost three decades later, Hannes, a young Jaegermeister from Obervellach, a small village in the Austrian Alps, ascended the same mountain "Kometeralpe" stalking a Chamois. After making a good shot, Hannes proceeded down the slope to the Chamois. To his amazement, next to the Chamois, just barely visible, leaning against a gray stone boulder, was an old rifle. The rifles stock was rotten and bleached by the elements, and all of the steel parts were rusted throughout, a sad resemblance of what used to be a hunter's pride. The firearm itself was in poor, unusable condition, however, when Hannes looked through the Kahles scope he couldn't believe his eyes: the image quality was like that of his new modern riflescope, with the crosshair standing out crisp and clear against a sharp, brilliant and extremely bright image. The steel surfaces were rusty, yet all of the aluminum parts were unharmed. The mechanical parts, including both elevation and windage still worked perfectly and even after all those years in the most extreme of elements, the Kahles riflescope remained waterproof. After contacting the original owner, Kahles was able to purchase this "environmentally-tested" rifle and scope. X-ray analysis showed that the rifle was still loaded and cocked but on safety. The action was locked up by corrosion and was made moveable only after burning the powder in the chamber. This rifle and scope, a testament to the durability of KAHLES optics, will be displayed at all major trade shows. This scope still remains in its original condition after being discovered in the high mountain regions of Austria.

The rigid aluminum scope tube is finished with Leatherwood/ Hi-LuxPermaCoat soft luster blueblack finish that's practically impervious to wear. Internally, Leatherwood/ Hi-Lux Distinguished Series scopes incorporate all the latest scope manufacturing technology, and the turret adjustments are positive and precise. All models feature an adustable objective.

MARKSMAN

These scopes tap the game-taking performance of these weapons and allows a "dead on" hold out to 300 yards, automatically compensating for bullet drop. This is accomplished by a unique circular external cam ring that raises the rear of the scope for shooting at extended ranges. The "through the lens" ranging system lets the shooter zoom in to frame a target between two points of the reticle and the scope determines the range and adjusts for trajectory. All the shooter has to do is center the crosshairs on the target and pull the trigger.

DISTINGUISHED

These are well built serious hunting scopes loaded with features and quality you wouldn't expect to find on a scope with this price. The scopes in this series also feature zeroable adjustments and the same tough PermaCoat finished aluminum scope tube found on more expensive models.

EXPERT

Whether you're looking for a long-range big game scope, varmint shooting scope, or a scope to tap all the accuracy potential of a new or favorite target rifle, any one of the Leatherwood Expert Series scopes will nicely fill the bill. All models feature an adjustable objective.

SHARPSHOOTER

The quality of the optics, construction, finish, and other popular features found within this series are unsurpassed by other comparably priced scopes on the market. Features positive windage and elevation adjustments. The MaxCoat multi-coated lenses have been polished to photographic quality. Fast Focus ocular lens allows a shooter to quick and easily tailor focus to his or her vision. All models feature a fast focus eye piece.

UNI-DIAL

By using a series of ten moveable indicators or Flags, the shooter can set the range zero points. The dial is calibrated in minutes so the Flags can be set by computation as well as shooting. Once set, the Flags are locked in place and the dial is operated in a conventional manner. The vertical dial does not have clicks so the Flag settings are infinitely variable. The windage knob has 1/4 minute clicks. Both adjustments have a stop to prevent the shooter from getting "lost" as to where his zero is. But both adjustments can be unlocked from the stops to permit zeroing. All models have and adjustable objective.

DOUBLE DEUCE

Designed for use on rimfire calibers, each Double-Deuce scope comes with a set of rimfire style rings to mount direct to your reciever.

RED DOTS

There are hunting and shooting situations when open sights or a scope may not be the best choice. For those special purpose applications, the Leatherwood®/ Hi-Lux™ Red-Dot Series electronic sights could be the answer to your shooting or hunting success. Handgunners are discovering how much easier it is to simply place the illuminated dot of these sights on their target rather than attempting to align the front sight in the rear sight notch and holding the sight picture as the trigger is squeezed.

Turkey hunters appreciate being able to track the approach of an old gobbler without worrying about whether or not the front bead of the shotgun is high or low. And muzzleloading hunters in those states where telescopic sights are not allowed during the special muzzleloader seasons are now turning to non-magnifying Red-Dot sights for a more positive aiming point. Leatherwood®/ Hi-Lux™ Red-Dot Series sights are extremely compact and lightweight. The brightness of the dot can be easily adjusted for easier sighting in either bright or low-light conditions. This sight is fully waterproof and shockproof, backed by a Limited Lifetime Warranty.

RETICLE GUIDE

Leupold has been manufacturing optical products for nearly 100 years. This year Leupold is introducing more major new products than in any of the past 100! Every last line of Golden Ring hunting riflescopes has been upgraded to set a new standard of performance. Of course, all these new products have been painstakingly designed and thoroughly tested to ensure they'll give you the kind of performance you've come to expect from Leupold and nobody else. In short, every hunter or shooter will be able to find Leupold optics and accessories that are a perfect fit, and they'll be able to count on them for a lifetime of dependability, waterproof, ruggedness, and accuracy. Leupold builds scopes to last not just for a lifetime...But for Generations. It's why shooters expect performance from their Leupold scope that they just wouldn't ask of lesser brands. It's why we're not afraid to back up our scopes with the strongest guarantee in the business: the Leupold Full Lifetime Guarantee.

Ruggedness and waterproofing are the heart and soul of every scope Leupold makes. Why? If your scope breaks or the lenses fog, it's absolutely useless. This doesn't mean the optics take a backseat. It's simply that high quality Leupold optics are worth going to extremes to protect. The result is an ideal balance between optical excellence and total durability. Since the production of Leupold's very first scope in 1947, they've been the benchmark by which all other riflescopes are judged.

Leupold's Full Lifetime Guarantee

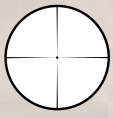
Ask many of our customers what they like best about the Leupold Full Lifetime Guarantee, and in so many words, you get the same response: "I've never had to use it."That's the secret behind the famous Leupold Full Lifetime Guarantee. It's given to American-made scopes that are designed, built, and tested so well that our outstanding guarantee is hardly ever needed. When we say that we build scopes that will last for generations, it's not a slogan, and it's more than our philosophy. It's the truth.

We offer Leupold scopes in the following reticles:

Wide Duplex® Reticle

Leupold designed the Wide Duplex reticle with a larger center gate for lightning fast target acquisition, even on a moving target.

Leupold Dot



A Leupold exclusive, this reticle still has a prominent dot like the so-called "floating dot." But the thinning portion of the crosshair makes locating the dot much easier.

Fine Duplex

Thinner posts and crosshairs allow for less target coverage, making precision shots on small targets easy.

Duplex

Heavy posts stand out againstcover and in twilight conditions, pointing boldly to the intersection. Centering is a snap. The thin crosshairs obscure little.

VX-III models use the Duplex reticle for range estimating as well. If you bracket a deer, you can read the range on the power selector ring.

Leupold Boone & Crockett Big Game Reticle

Available exclusively in the new VX-III riflescopes, this reticle system will help you take big game at longer distances. Not only does this reticle help determine the range, it provides precise aiming points for easy-to-remember range increments as well as wind deflection.

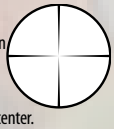
Heavy Duplex

With its heavy posts, the Heavy Duplex reticle is especially useful in low-light conditions.

Wide Duplex RE

Place game of approximately 16" in height in the ranging bracket on the lower picket, and turn the power selector until it fits into this space, then read the numbers on the rear of the power selector ring to get an estimate of the range ("3" for 300 yards, etc).

CPC

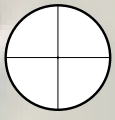


The CPC reticle is a steady taper down to a fine intersection. This gives a faster reference than a conventional crosshair by leading your eye to the center.

Post & Duplex

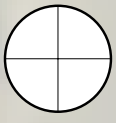
Offering the benefits of both the Duplex and the German #4, the Post & Duplex is the favorite of many hunters.

Target Dot



This is a conventional shooter's dot, which seems to "float." The crosshairs are extremely thin.

Crosshair

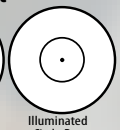


The conventional crosshair is still a popular choice because of its simplicity and versatility.

Leupold Varmint Hunters Reticle

Available exclusively in the new VX-III riflescopes, this reticle system will help you hit small targets at longer ranges than ever, by helping you determine the range to the target, then providing precise aiming points for easy-to-remember range increments, as well as wind deflection. Aiming points are fine lines, which won't obscure small targets at long range.

Illuminated Circle Dot



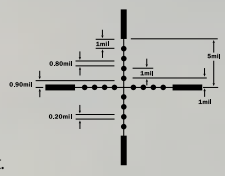
Designed for fast target acquisition in any environment, the Illuminated Circle Dot reticle can also be used to estimate range. Available in the VX-III1.5-5x20mm Illuminated reticle model and Leupold Mark 4 CQ/ scopes.

Mil Dot

Several Leupold riflescopes are available with the Mil Dot reticle, which was designed to help the U.S. Marine Corps estimate distances. It's now standard for all military branches.

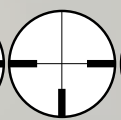
Range Estimating with the Mil Dot Reticle

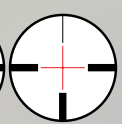
With practice, it's a simple system to use. Dots are spaced in one mil (milliradian) increments on the crosshair. Using the mil formula, a table can be created that is based on the size of the object being targeted. Just look through the scope, bracket the object between dots, and refer to the table for an estimated distance to target.



Leupold scopes fitted with the Mil Dot reticle include more specific instruction on its use.

German #1, #4, and Illuminated #4 Dot



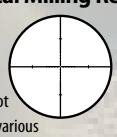


These typical European-style reticles are bold and easy to see, especially against tangled backgrounds and shadows.

New! Turkey Plex

The ultimate turkey hunter's reticle, it not only helps you zero in on your target area, it also helps estimate range. At maximum magnification, the Turkey Plex subtends a turkey's head (crown to wattles) at 40 yards.

New! Tactical Milling Reticle (TMR)



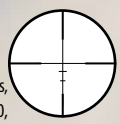
The Tactical Milling Reticle (TMR) expands on existing Mil Dot reticles by using various sized and spaced tic marks on the vertical and horizontal stadia for increased ranging precision, accuracy, and quick 1-meter range estimating reference points. All Mil Dot calculations are TMR compatible.

New! Special Purpose Reticle

With the Special Purpose Reticle, you can engage targets with greater precision at longer ranges than generally possible with other reticle styles, yet also use it for instinctive, close-range/low-magnification engagements.

New! LR Duplex

The LR Duplex is a new offering that will assist you with accurate, repeatable, and ethical long range shooting. It features a Duplex central aiming point for rifles zeroed at 200 yards, and calibrated hold points for 300, 400 and 500 yards.



New! LRV Duplex

Available in select Leupold VX-II riflescopes, the LRV Duplex was designed with the varmint hunter in mind, and features a Duplex aiming point for rifles zeroed at 200 yards, and precise hold points for 300, 400 and 500 yards.

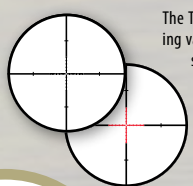
The Mark 4 10x40mm LR/T M1, Mark 4 16x40mm LR/T M1, and Mark 4 10x40mm LR/T M3 —are arguably among the toughest, highest-performing riflescopes you'll find anywhere. It's no surprise that the Mark 4 10x40mm LR/T M3 was chosen as the primary day optic of the U.S. Army M-24 Sniper System. The reasons why are clear. Superior edge-to-edge sharpness across visual field and outstanding low-light capability.

New! Front Focal Plane model (FFP) – with the reticle in the front focal plane of the scope, the reticle increases in magnification along with the image, so you can determine range at any magnification setting. (Some models)



The Tactical Milling Reticle expands on existing Mil Dot reticles by using various sized and spaced hash marks on the vertical and horizontal stadia for increased ranging precision, accuracy, and quick 1-meter range estimating reference points. All Mil Dot calculations are TMR compatible. To use the system, simply determine the range to the target using the mil system, then, use the corresponding aiming point that is matched to your cartridge to engage the target.

RIFLESCOPES

I can't begin to tell you how hard it is to spot mule deer bucks in the spotted snow canyons of Wyoming. If you are not using quality optics I guarantee you are missing 75% of the big bucks. My Leupold 10x42 Gold Ring binoculars and 12-40x60 High Definition Gold Ring spotter were worth there weight in gold on this hunt!

I spotted this buck bedded down behind some sage brush on the side of what us Texans would call a mountain. We were forming the game plan when some does must have winded us, causing the bedded buck to get up and trot off behind them. We stayed put for a good thirty minutes then started our pursuit but could only get within 250 yards because of the terrain. Fortunately for me there was an 8 foot sheep herders "rock tower" between him and me that allowed me to close the distance a little more and provide the perfect rest (you can see it in the background). While I was prepared and had planned for longer shots this was a mere chip shot for my Leupold scope.

VX-7

Leupold is bringing out a new top-of-the-line scope for their 100th anniversary (1907-2007). The Leupold VX-7 Riflescopes are built off a 30mm tube, using Leupold's latest lens system technology "Xtended Twight Lens". Scopes will feature a new SpeeDial adjustment system, fast-focus eyepiece and have a 2nd Generation argon/krypton waterproofing system. The powers will be available from the compact 1.5-6x24, low-light gathering 2.5-10x45, mid-range 3.5-14x50, to the long range 3.5-14x56 and 4.5-18x56.

VX-L

Large objective riflescopes are great when the light is low, but the high mount and awkward cheek weld always left something to be desired. That something is the new Leupold VX-L series of riflescopes. With their unique shape, they take low-light performance to its highest level yet with the added advantage of an incredibly low mount. By creating a small crescent in the objective of the VX-L, Leupold engineers were able to increase the size of the objective lens for greater light transmission and a larger exit pupil, and yet you can mount VX-L extremely low.

The results are clear: VX-L 3.5-10x50 & 4.5-14x50 transmits significantly more light energy to your eye than a typical 40mm riflescope, yet it mounts as low as a 36mm! Leupold has also given the VX-L their new Second Generation Waterproofing System featuring Argon/Krypton gas, Leupold's exclusive Index Matched Lens System, blackened lens edges, and Diamondcoat Indexed Matched lens cloatings for increased light transmission, clarity and contrast, dual spring erector system, Lockable Extreme Fast Focus eyepiece, and even the Ballistic Aiming System reticles, for unparalleled accuracy at longer ranges. It's all there . . . outstanding low-light performance, a low mount, absolute ruggedness and waterproof integrity, and incredible accuracy. With the Leupold VX-L, you sacrifice nothing.

The scope was a 1.5-5x20 Leupold VX-III. The rifle a Weatherby DGR .375 H&H magnum. The target, a cape buffalo at a distance of 25 meters in high grass. We had been hiking for four days in 100 degree heat. The PH advised, "Shoot through the grass!" The only visible part of the buffalo was the hump on its back. We had to wait for it to raise its head to even see if it was a trophy. The fast acquisition afforded by the Leupold permitted a timely spinal shot that dropped the bull immediately. I still had dry mouth an hour later.

I upgraded my M-14 (my pop sent me the stock, he painted it and installed the cheek riser) with a Leupold 3.5-10x40 Mark 4 LR/T riflescope, Bulter Creek flip-up scope covers, along with my Leica Rangemaster 1200 scanning rangefinder....I hope to do my best.

The palmettos are tall and thick in north Louisiana where I hunt, but I had no trouble finding this nice 8-pt. with my new Leupold 1.75-6x32mm scope from SWFA. The horns may not be B&C potential, but my freezer is full for the year.

Thanks, SWFA, for quality service and low prices.

FIXED POWER

A classic just never goes out of style, and never outlives its usefulness. It's the best way to describe Leupold fixed power riflescopes. What truly makes them great, and what has made them such an enduring favorite, is their simplicity and ruggedness. Of course, each has specific features that will make it particularly useful for different shooting disciplines.

4x33mm
A traditional selection, it gives you the abundant, non-critical eye relief typical of Leupold riflescopes, and it's just 10 inches in length...short for a 4x riflescope.

6x36mm and 6x42mm
Ideal for intermediate to long-range shooting, these scopes offer ample magnification and a generous field of view at 100 yards.

12x40mm Adj. Obj.
Gives you the same great features and performance, with even greater power for longer shots. Has Multicoat 4 lens system for a clear picture in all light conditions.

2.5x28mm IER Scout
Has 9 to 17 inches of non-critical eye relief that makes it excellent for your lever action or scout rifle. Mount this outstanding scope on the barrel, in front of the receiver.

6x42mm Adj. Obj. Competition Hunter
This scope has tall, target-style windage and elevation dials featuring 1/4-MOA "click" adjustments, and a full 15-MOA of adjustment for each revolution. It's an ideal riflescope for hunter benchrest shooting.

RIMFIRE & AIRGUN

Designed for close range precision shooting. The best there is, whether you are shooting competitively or just plinking.
Features:

- Light weight
- Compact with the same performance as the full size models
- Equivalent to the Vari-X II line
- Parallax adjusted for 60 yards
- Finer Duplex in the 4x

Leupold designates two models as Rimfire scopes that do not have adjustable objectives and have the parallax pre-set at 60 yards from the factory. The E.F.R. (Extended Focal Range) scopes will also work well on rimfire or airguns. The E.F.R.s have adjustable objectives that have the ability to focus at a very close range, thus being parallax free at closer ranges for airguns or rimfires. Airguns require scopes to be extra heavy duty because of the reverse recoil (all Leupold scopes are airgun compatible). The rimfire/airgun scopes are built to the same standard as the centerfire scopes.

EUROPEAN

Five models, from a fast action 1.25-4x20mm model to a longer distance capable 4-12x40mm model, as well as a perennial favorite, the 3-9x50mm. All with 30mm maintubes, all with multicoated ocular and objective lenses, all waterproof, and all 100% Leupold.

In addition, each magnification model is offered with a choice of two reticles, the original Leupold Duplex® and the classic German #4. The weight of each model has been kept as low as possible while not compromising quality. We also added a fast focus eyepiece to each model and finished them all in a durable, attractive matte finish.

Leupold has long prided itself on listening to our customers and responding to their expressed ideas. We think we have created the ideal scope for the European sporting shooter in the Leupold European-30.

SHOTGUN/ MUZZLELOADER, ULTRALIGHT

Just as Leupold makes scopes tailored for the specific needs of long range, target, tactical, and handgun shooters, they also make a variety of scopes to meet an array of special requirements. Everyone, from dangerous game and turkey hunters to muzzleloader, rimfire and air rifle enthusiasts, will find a scope that complements their particular passion. And though the Ultrlight scopes are small in stature, they're big on ruggedness, dependability, and craftsmanship, just like Leupold's full-size models.

VX-II 2-7x28mm Ultrlight

VX-II 2-7x28mm Ultralight is one of the lightest scopes ever made, at just 8.2 ounces and 9.9 inches in length. The standard is parallax adjusted for 150 yards. The RimFire Special is parallax adjusted to 60 yards for rimfire rifles. The VX-II 3-9x33mm Ultralight variable power is just 11 inches in length but big on versatility, with an exceptional sight picture.

VX-II 3-9x33mm Ultralight

The VX-II 3-9x33mm Compact has a close focusing distance that makes it ideal for rimfire or air rifle shooting and other short range shooting.

VX-I Shotgun/Muzzleloader Scopes

The 1-4x20 Shotgun Muzzleloader and the 2-7x33 Shotgun/Muzzleloader have their parallax adjusted to 75 yards. These are ideal scopes for shotgun or muzzleloader hunting. They offer 24- to 75-foot fields of view at 100 yards, depending on the model, and Leupold's Heavy Duplex reticle for precise shot placement even in dense cover.

ENTER TO WIN UP TO $20,000 in PRIZES IN THE SWFA PHOTO CONTEST

The rules are very easy making it possible for anyone to win. Basically, you take a picture that includes a product you bought from us and submit it along with a story, the best picture and story combination wins the Grand Prize. Pictures can be anything from hunts, vacation, sporting events, races, it does not matter as long as the product you purchased from us is in the picture and has relevance in the story. You must be in our data base as purchasing the product on or after Sept.1, 2003 and most importantly that product must be in the picture you submit.

Contest ends at midnight Jan. 31, 2007. Finalists will be named at that time. Once the finalists are selected, the general public will begin voting Feb. 1 – Feb. 28, 2008. Places will be determined on the amount of votes received per finalist.

For a complete entry form visit www.RifleScopes.com

Photos will not be returned and become property of SWFA to be used in future promotional material as desired.

I will be donating this prize to two charities. Amerciansnipers.org, and children's miracle network. The first takes care of Deployed Riflemen and you may have heard of it, the other takes care of families stricken with childhood cancer (my daughter). To suddenly be able to help both is simply wonderful…

Thank you and the whole SWFA Team for this awesome contest! Your prizes, from top to bottom---are first rate! Excellent selection. I would happily place any of them in my safe…and I will too, as funds become available in my budget. Like I said, I promised before God that anything I win goes to those in need. I had no idea that I might be a winner at the time---but my word is good. You can rest assured that all my shopping begins and ends with SWFA—so you will be hearing from me again and again with my credit card in hand.

NIKON OMEGA MUZZLELOADER

The first dedicated muzzleloading riflescope with Nikon's unique BDC-250 bullet drop compensating reticle allows you to realize the full potential of your muzzleloader. This compact 3-9x0 black powder beauty features five inches of constant eye relief to accommodate magnum-charge recoil and a BDC-250 reticle, engineered precisely for the trajectories common to the Thompson Center Omega .50 cal rifle using 150 grain powder charge (pellets or powder) and 250 grain bullets.

This new BDC-250 reticle, with its unique ballistic circles, allows the shooter to accurately and ethically shoot out to 250 yards by providing instant aim points, taking the guesswork out of where to hold on the target at longer ranges. Accuracy you would expect from a centerfire is now possible with a muzzleloader.

While the Nikon Omega was specifically designed to match the trajectory of the Thompson Center Omega muzzleloader, this scope can be used on any modern muzzleloader. Available in matte or silver to match your rifle's finish.

Last Chance Buck I was really happy for my Dad when he drew a muzzleloader tag for any antlered deer. I glassed for two to three weeks before and managed to see two really good bucks. As the season drew closer, we had family issues that came into play. We hunted the first few days hoping for a chance at the big boys. After a missed opportunity and family matters getting a bit more complicated, my father decided that he might not hunt the rest of the hunt. I convinced him to go out one more morning and place a stalk on the first deer we saw. We were glassing at first light with my SWFA Big Eyes and it seemed like fate. There stood this 3x3 and we did not waste any time. We got within 116 yards in about 20 minutes. My dad setup the bipod, steadied the crosshairs and squeezed of the shot. The deer ran 45 yards and piled up. Even though he isn't impressive, it makes for an awesome memory with my father.

Master Series SIMMONS®

SIMMONS REINVENTS THE RIFLESCOPE WITH EIGHT INNOVATIONS THAT CONTRIBUTE TO A SAFER, MORE RELIABLE, AND MORE ACCURATE SHOOTING EXPERIENCE

The New Simmons Master Series scopes showcase the very best in American engineering. Drawing from the expertise and resources of its parent company, Meade Instruments, optical engineers and designers in America took on the challenge to develop the most reliable scope on the market. They addressed every aspect of scope design and performance, the results is the Simmons Master Series.

1. The Heart of the Master Series; Simmons patented TrueZero Flex Erector.

The patented design of the erector tube is the secret to the internal construction of this dramatic new scope and the first part of Simmons' TrueZero Adjustment System. The traditional gimbal/biasing spring design has been replaced by an erector tube that is solidly attached to the scope body, with increased flexibility at the normal gimbal point provided by special grooves in the tube. Recoil is the largest contributor in a shifting point of impact. This advanced design greatly reduces the effects of recoil by absorbing and dissipating the recoil energy. Parallax or point of impact shift due to recoil is dramatically reduced, if not completely eliminated. This dissipation of recoil reduces stress within the scope, this design eliminates many of the parts traditionally used in erector tube construction. Less parts means less chance of anything going wrong! Another contributor to a shifting point of impact is caused by the biasing spring, which is used to apply tension and force at the ends of the erector tube against the windage and elevation adjustments. This spring is the cause of many an errant shot for two reasons. One is that the spring is weakened over time, becoming less responsive, and causing the point-of-aim to shift. The second is the "drag" created where the erector contacts the spring, keeping the erector from returning to the same point after each shot. When your point-of-aim shifts, so does your point of impact. The new erector allows it to maintain an even pressure from end-to-end, eliminating the need for a biasing spring. The responses to windage and elevation adjustments are immediate and precise. No more tapping on the turret to be sure the adjustment "sets". A non-shifting point-of-aim at all magnifications and adjustment settings delivers unparalleled accuracy and absolute hold on zero from season to season! And if all this isn't enough, removal of the biasing spring creates additional room within the scope body that results in a significant increase in windage and elevation adjustment range up to 17% greater than other scopes.

2. Simmons® Exclusive QTA Quick Target Acquisition, Fast Focus Eyepiece

Today's heavier bullets and loads require longer eye. Simmons engineers have completely redesigned the Master Series eyepiece. The new QTA eyepieces deliver a constant 3.75 inch eye relief and in some models, up to 4 inches! The new design keeps eye relief constant throughout the entire power range, regardless of the magnification. The new Simmons eyepiece also offers a larger eyebox, this allows for increased vertical and horizontal, as well as forward and backward movement while maintaining a clear view of the target results in quicker target acquisition when it counts the most!

All scopes in the new 2007 line are engineered and designed in America and are manufactured in a dedicated, quality controlled Simmons facility overseas. Simmons ensures absolute product integrity and quality throughout the entire design, production, and delivery cycle of these scopes. Their goal is simple, to provide innovative and superior products through a heightened focus on innovation and technology. The Master Series represents their first effort in creating anew direction and future for Simmons. We're very pleased with the results.

3. Newly Designed TrueZero Dials Provide Uncompromising Accuracy

Precise and repeatable windage and elevation adjustments are absolutely critical to shot placement. The Simmons' TrueZero Adjustment System – completely redesigned windage and elevation dials. The new dials employ a ball bearing and spring system that reduces wear while maintaining reliability and accuracy. Their precise and audible clicks eliminate any deviation in click value. Also, TrueZero dials are completely sealed against water intrusion.

4. A True, One-Piece Main Tube Provides Incredible Durability and Lightweight

Produced as a single unit, from the objective bell to the eyebell, the scopes feature the industry's first and only TRUE one-piece tube. This design allows for a 30% reduction in parts compared to current products, resulting in unprecedented reliability and performance. Simmons' design engineers have also addressed the important issue of product weight. Not only does a 30% reduction in parts improve reliability, it also reduces the scopes' weight. Simmons Master Series scopes are the lightest, most rugged line of scopes available today, weighing an average of 16% less than competitive!

5. Side Focus Parallax Adjustments

Simmons AETEC and ProHunter Master Series scopes feature newly designed side focus parallax adjustments. By changing the location of the adjustment from the objective bell to the saddle area, parallax and fine focus adjustments can be made while maintaining your target in the full field of view. Most manufacturers only provide side focus adjustments in models with 30mm tubes, but due to our new erector design and tube construction we are able to offer this feature in a 1 inch tube.

6. Meade Optical Engineers Build Superior Performance into Simmons Optics

All Master Series riflescopes feature high-quality optical glass. But, when you add Meade Instruments' superior lens coatings you get superbly performing scopes high in light transmission, contrast, glare control, and clarity. As the world's leading manufacturer of telescopes and optical equipment, Meade's expertise, knowledge, and hands-on supervision help produce a remarkable riflescope.

7. SureGrip Surfaces Provide All-Weather Performance

SureGrip rubber surfaces are offered on selected Windage and Elevation Caps, Power Change Rings, Eyepiece Diopter Adjustments, and Side Focus Knobs. Mechanical adjustments can be made to the scope under any type of weather conditions even with gloves.

8. Simmons® HydroShield lens coating

A hydroshield is a coating that resists water and fog build up on lens surfaces, ensuring a clear field of vision in all weather conditions.

"Just returned from winning the Canadian Long Range Challenge and the Aggregate for the 21st Century, at the Canadian Fullbore Rifle Championships, with a (Super Sniper) SS20X42 scope purchased from SWFA... This scope is ideal for F Class use from the stand-point of ruggedness, elevation & windage range, and price. What more can be said..."

"I am a NYC Correction Officer assigned to the Emergency Service Unit, and I am a NYPD/ MPTC certified firearms instructor. . . I used the Super Sniper scope I ordered from SWFA, and I was able to out shoot 28 other shooters and win the gold medal in this event."

John Hernandez, NYPD

"Out of three brands, the S.S. was the ONLY one to still be zeroed, and this after clicking up and down, side to side for 5 days of shooting. And it was the least expensive scope of the bunch... It's the best kept secret in optics today."

TDS Tri-Factor Reticle System

TDS Reticle

Designed and licensed by T.D. Smith (ex. fighter pilot and National Champion Shooter). This reticle will enable any shooter to quickly determine a straight line aim to a target corrected for distance and wind. This system, which has been tested and documented in over 2500 "one shot" harvest of wild game provides the shooter with an easy means of quickly making the sight adjustment decisions necessary to place an accurate shot on a target at ranges from 100 to 900 yards. As with any aiming device, a shooter must apply good, careful shooting technique, discipline and practice.

The Benefit of the TDS

TDS Tri-Factor system guides your eyes intuitively into following your body – much the same as when you point your finger at an object. Your eyes look where your finger is pointing, not the other way around. This system presents to you a dominant 9X or straight line aim to the target, depending on the model of scope selected and reduces the stress of guessing range and holdover.

GOOD HUNTING.

I was on vacation hunting coyotes with my dad when we got on the subject of good scopes . We were walking next to a stream and I told him that I would put my rifle in the stream to prove how good the scope was. Now my dad was not too sure about doing this but he said it would be a test that he had never seen done before and said that it would prove to him that this SS10X42M was a good all weather scope. I found a good spot and chucked it in then we decided to get some pictures. After about 15 minutes we were done, I pulled it out,wiped the lenses and drained the water from the barrel then I shot a round to clean out the barrel. The Super Sniper never had a problem !. I am very happy with this scope Chris and I hope the SS scopes are around for years to come.

Thanks, Jeremy Hanks

Trijicon Acog Rifle Scope
4x32

A.C.O.G. & COMPACT A.C.O.G.

Trijicon's revolutionary Advanced Compact Optical Gunsight (ACOG), originally designed for the military, is now offered in a lightweight compact design. Available in a variety of reticle and magnification configurations, Trijicon compact ACOG is ideally suited for a wide range of firearm applications and shooting situations.

All ACOGs are made to bolt directly into the AR-15 carry handle, but can be easily adapted to fit almost any weapon with the optional adapters.

A.C.O.G. & COMPACT A.C.O.G.

SWAT teams and other tactical units depend on a variety of Trijicon ACOG (Advanced Combat Optical Gun sights) for speed and accuracy in all situations-from close quarters to long range. ACOGs allow a high degree of discrimination, even among multiple, moving targets. TA-31 (4x32) and TA-11 (3.5x35) feature a red donut above the range finding bullet drop reticle and the Bindon Aiming Concept (BAC). The donut glows red at night from tritium and red in the day from its fiber optics. All models feature a special ranging reticle. The user does not need to make any special adjustments between shots at different ranges. Bullet drop is built into the reticle that is parallax free along its vertical axis. ACOGs are waterproof to greater than 500 feet under water. The 4x ACOGs have 3 clicks per inch adjustments at 100 yards, the 3.5x has 4 clicks per inch at 100 yards. Only the prism housing moves; external blows are easily absorbed by the light weight prism housing, making the ACOG the most rugged scope available. ACOGs come ready to mount on any AR-15 carry handle and are easily adaptable to any "weaver style" base with the adapters available.

A specially modified 4x32 Trijicon ACOG (TA01-NSN) was chosen by the U.S. Special Operations Command (SOCOM) as standard issue for all Special Forces Units, including the Green Berets, Navy SEAL's, and Rangers.

ACCUPOINT

Hunters know that the majority of the game only show themselves at dusk and dawn. The problem until now has been that you can no longer see your crosshairs on the animal. With Trijicon's AccuPoint you will be able to see your reticle even in total darkness. AccuPoint features a unique combination of fiber optics and tritium to illuminate your point of impact. The reticle automatically adjusts to the lighting conditions or you can adjust the brightness to your preference. AccuPoint scopes are waterproof and require no batteries. AccuPoints feature the Bindon Aiming Concept (BAC). After many years of searching for and developing improved small arms weapons sights Glyn Bindon made an amazing discovery. The legendary aiming speed of the Armson O.E.G. can be combined with the accuracy and precision of magnified scopes. What was discovered is that the human brain automatically switches to the best system when you look through the scope with both eyes open. Two major universities have confirmed that anyone with normal vision (over 95% of the population) can learn to use the brain powered zoom in seconds. The BAC developed from this technology.

REFLEX

With the Trijicon Reflex, aiming is as easy as looking at the target. The Reflex uses both tritium and fibre optic technology to provide a quick and easily-seen aiming point under every lighting condition. The tritium offers a red dot aiming point that is enhanced in bright light by the fiber optic system, providing a more visible reticle in bright conditions and a dimmer reticle in low light.

ARMSON O.E.G.

Armson O.E.G. (Occluded Eye Gunsight) This red dot sight is simply the fastest sight available. It allows you to use both eyes to speed your focus onto the target. One eye never leaves the target scene. Binocular aiming means that while your view through one eye remains focused on the target, the other eye sees a red dot as the weapon is aimed. The result is a super-imposed dot on the target. There is never a contrast problem with an Armson because your brain automatically adjusts any contrast. The dot covers 4 inches at 100 yards and is adjustable for windage and elevation. During the day the sight uses ambient light to illuminate the red dot and at night it is illuminated by tritium.

WEAVER™ RIFLESCOPES

T-SERIES

Patented Micro-Trac 4-Point System utilizes a dual spring, four bearing contact design allowing for independent movement of windage and elevation for unmatched precision and repeatability. The T-Series offers you a choice of a Fine Cross Hair or Dot reticle and comes standard with an extra pair of oversized benchrest adjustment knobs, a sunshade and screw-in metal lens caps.

V-SERIES

The V-Series eye relief is long and forgiving, so hunters can spend those first precious seconds adjusting the scope instead of their head position. The power adjustment ring has a raised node that helps you crank it up quickly, even with heavy gloves on, in low light. All V's feature fully multi-coated lenses to reduce glare and give you edge-to-edge clarity. Their solid, one-piece construction makes them waterproof, fogproof, and shockproof. Each one is designed to be a reliable shooting partner for years to come. The V-24 target/varmint scope, has a special varmint reticle with very fine cross hairs for clear shot placement on the smallest or most distant varmints.

K-SERIES

Weaver's Fixed K Series rifle scopes are monuments to durability and affordability. Fixed scopes have fewer moving parts, so they can take more punishment season after season. Fully multi-coated lenses improve image brightness and reduce glare. A one-piece, aircraft-grade aluminum tube holds the lenses in perfect alignment. Weaver Classic K Rifle Scopes are waterproof, fogproof and shockproof - if you don't count the pleasant shock you'll get when you look at the price tag.

1 moa = 1.047″ at 100 yds
1 mil = 3.6″ at 100 yds

I took this buck on the Navajo Reservation this season. I shot off his right main beam and looked for hours but could not find it. He goes 231″ as is, but with main beam and right eye-guard, he would gross 239″. Can't begin to tell you how important high magnification, superior optics and patience are when hunting mule deer.

VICTORY DIARANGE SERIES

The Zeiss Victory Diarange combines the characteristics and performance of a precision rangefinder and a high-performance telescopic sight into one perfect unit. Outstanding clarity, optical performance and the impressive twilight aptitude are incorporated into the distinct shooting stability for all hunting and shooting calibers. The robust, highly stable barrel body made of non-corroding alloys is black anodized and equipped with the standard Zeiss inside rail. The waterproof, nitrogen filled housing reliably prevents internal lens misting during temperature fluctuations.

With a capable measurement range from 10m/yds to max. 999 m/yds, the new Zeiss Victory Diarange with its laser rangefinder calculates the exact distance to the object for you. Just like while shooting, the target is sighted with the scope, a touch on the measurement button triggers the measurement. Within a half-second, LED's in the lower scope field display the results for three seconds. After that, you can trigger a renewed measurement.

VICTORY DIAVARI SERIES

The brilliant Victory high performance optics offer top efficiency in all sectors without making any compromises. Another milestone in more than 100 years history of ZEISS riflescopes.

- Maximum image quality and highest detail recognition.
- Maximum twilight performance, increased transmission due to ZEISS T* multicoating, particularly in the night-sensitive blue-spectral range.
- Minimised straylight and reduced reflexes even in front light, maximum contrast.
- Extremely wide fields of view.
- Large eyerelief of 90 mm for safty mounting.
- Compact and lightweight.
- Perfect sealing, no penetration of dust or moisture, nitrogen filled.
- Absolutely recoil-proof, tested to 1,500 G/msec. The equivalent of the stress caused by the most powerful hunting calibre.
- Easy and precise sighting-in using zeroed reticle adjustment and accurate wear-resistant click mechanism.
- High-strength single-piece housing, made by solid aluminium.
- Matt anodised surface protects against scratches.

CONQUEST SERIES

High performance, light weight, compactness and top quality - these were the challenges to be met by the new Zeiss Conquest riflescopes for the North American market. They have now achieved these ambitious goals by redesigning the optical system using glass materials which contain no arsenic or lead. And that is by no means all: large eye relief, wide fields of view and peak transmission values are further outstanding features. In addition, this is all available at an attractive price. With these excellent features, Zeiss Conquest riflescopes meet the demands made by American hunters and their local hunting conditions.

All Conquest models have the following features in common:

- One piece tube body for superior ruggedness.
- Available with hard anodized black or stainless surface finish. The latter blends perfectly with stainless all-weather weapons.
- 6 different reticles including Z-Plex and reticle 4.
- Non-magnifying reticles throughout the entire power range to ensure that the reticle size remains constant and hides as little of the target as possible at long ranges.
- Parallax-free at 100 yds or with parallax adjustment (AO) in the Conquest 4.5-14x44 A/O MC and Conquest 6.5-20x50 A/O MC.
- Easy-to-use reticle adjustment with ¼ MOA = 0.7 cm per click at 100 m allows quick and precise sighting in.
- Large square reticle adjustment range - elevation and windage adjustments do not affect each other even at the ends of the adjustment ranges.
- Long eye relief of 4" with the Conquest 3-9x40 MC and 3.5" with the other scope models.
- Continuous eyepiece focusing from +2 to -3 diopters.
- No change in the point of impact after power change or re-focusing.
- Carl Zeiss "MC" multi-coating on all glass-to-air surfaces for maximum transmission (markedly above 90 %), color fidelity and brilliance.
- Waterproof in compliance with ISO 9022-8 - even with elevation caps removed.
- Nitrogen filling to prevent fogging on the inner lens surfaces.
- Lifetime Transferrable Warranty

You'll appreciate the multi-coated optics for increased brightness in low light conditions. Fast-focus eyepiece and a wide-angle field-of-view ensure instant target acquisition, and 1/4 M.O.A. fingertip, audible/resettable adjustments make windage and elevation tuning quick and easy. Bushnell Elite 3200 Hand Gun Scopes

RAINGUARD ELITE 3200

Bar none, it's the brightest scope in the world. Boasting 95% light transmission at 550nm, this is Bushnell's top-of-the-line riflescope. Bushnell's exclusive, hydrophobic Rainguard lens coating - which disperses condensation into microscopic specks, allowing you to literally see around the moisture - ensures you won't miss that trophy buck because you breathed on your eyepiece or you couldn't wipe the rain away in time. All optical lens surfaces are fully multi-coated for the absolute maximum light transmission and the sharpest image. Fingertip, audible/resettable 1/4 M.O.A. adjustments make windage and elevation tuning quick and easy. The ultra-strong one-piece tube is hammer-forged from an aluminum and titanium alloy for 30% more strength than standard aluminum scopes -and to be sure it lasts, it is recoil-tested to 10,000 rounds of a .375 H&H Magnum! The Elite Bullet-Proof Warranty assures you that Bushnell will repair or replace, at no cost, any Elite riflescope that becomes defective during normal use.

If you're looking for a fast sight, you'll be hard-pressed to find one quicker than the Bushnell HOLOsight. Lauded by experts as one of the most innovative gunsights ever made, the advanced holographic technology found within our HOLOsight lets you bead up on a target as quickly as you can raise your gun. It's that fast. HOLOsight projects the appearance of an illuminated crosshair 50 yards in front of your gun, yet no forward light is projected. Sight from any distance behind the gun without taking both eyes off of the target. Offers unlimited eye relief and an unlimited field-of-view. At half the size of a conventional sight, it fits easily on handguns, shotguns and rifles with a standard Weaver®-style mount.

The Z-Point reflex sight offers not only state-of-the-art optical and electronic systems, but also a host of exclusive features:

- Hybrid power supply = battery + solar cell. By daylight, the solar cell supplies power to the light-emitting diode, saving the battery and prolonging its life.
- Basic brightness of the illuminated dot can be individually set and stored, and adjusts automatically to the surrounding light conditions.
- Illuminated dot switches off automatically after 3 hours.
- Illuminated dot remains equally bright even when viewed at an angle, due to new, patented optical arrangement.
- Elevation and windage adjustment with centered illuminated dot – stays in the center of the ray path after sighting-in.

JUST RIGHT™

Success is a complex recipe.

A measure of skill . . .a parcel of perserverance . . .
a bucket of knowledge . . .several decades of experience . . .

It ain't easy.

But if you can nail it, things'll turn out just right.

For example, Burris optics have that just right combination of superior low light performance and and affordable price.

Sure, you can pay hundreds more to get Burris quality optics but why would you want to?

For ruggedness and dependability . . .for brilliant, sharp, clear optics . . . for surgically accurate precision . . . for Ballistic Plex trajectory compensation . . .for exceptional value . . .Burris is just right.

BURRIS®
OPTICS. JUST RIGHT.

Bushnell Trophy Binoculars

Unlike similarly priced binos, the internals are O-ring sealed and nitrogen-purged for 100% waterproof/fogproof protection. The tough, rubber armor keeps them protected at the bottom of your pack or while rattling around in the glove box. With BaK-4 roof prisms and multi-coated amber optics, Trophy binoculars are over-achievers when it comes to gathering enough light to deliver edge-to-edge crisp, bright images.

"Light Done Right"

Each LEICA Ultravid Binocular starts with a housing made of light high-grade magnesium, with a center axis of titanium. Wall thickness is almost twice that of other binoculars on the market using magnesium, making the Leica stronger and more durable.

To produce even greater structural integrity and longer product life, the center axis shaft of the LEICA Ultravid is made of space age titanium. In addition, the complete focusing assembly is made of durable metal components, not plastic like some other companies. All of this is done, while achieving the target of lighter weight.

Ten Years in the Making

Each Ultravid Binocular features enhanced optics with greater contrast and higher brightness by virtue of Leica's High Lux System (HLS™) and stray light elimination. The High Lux System is a special mirror coating enhancing the prism system that is applied utilizing an advanced Physical Vapor Deposition process generated by an Ion Beam and particle accelerator. Forty-three separate coatings are applied in a thickness as little as 40 nanometers. These so called lamba/2 coatings, which transfer 99.9% of the light over the mirrors, not only generate additional brightness, but also allows for optimization of the full spectrum of visible light making up the image. Commonly used coatings allow optimization for only one wavelength of light. Additionally, the mechanical and optical design improves contrast and total light transmission. This is accomplished with the glass and lens coatings. Net result: extraordinary light transmission that delivers the brightest and most natural image available from a binocular today.

The extremely robust magnesium housing assures precise functioning under all outdoor conditions and great longevity. The Ultravid's compact dimensions, extraordinarily ergonomic design and their low weight (less than 26 ounces!) make these binoculars become constant companions that one will never want to leave behind.

Leupold Golden Ring Binoculars

The old standards of performance no longer apply: Leupold Golden Ring binoculars are here. We put everything we know about optics into them. They feature the same Index Matched Lens System as our VX-III riflescopes, as well as phase coated super-high reflection prisms, for brightness, resolution, contrast, and color fidelity that is simply astonishing. You'll see details like never before, picking out the points on a whitetail rack, the hide of a coyote in brush, or an elk in dark timber, even in the poorest light and most miserable conditions. At 8x and 10x, the optimal hunting magnifications, you can close the distance on game with optical power, rather than leg power. With the innovative Inter pupillary Distance Lock (IPD), you can use your Golden Ring binocular one-handed: they're ready to use the instant you put them to your eyes. The ergonomic body fits all sizes of hands, and is easy to grip in any conditions. Twist-up, retractable eyecups and generous eye relief make for comfortable extended viewing even with glasses. Finally, they're everything a hunter would expect of binoculars good enough to wear the Leupold Golden Ring. They're assembled in Oregon by the same people who've crafted Leupold optics for nearly a century. They're built to take the kind of abuse only hunters can dish out. They're filled with bone-dry nitrogen and sealed against moisture for absolute fog proof/water proof integrity. And of course, they're covered by the Leupold Full Lifetime Guarantee, the best consumer protection in the business.

MINOX

Minox Binoculars

MINOX is a synonym for the miniaturization of optical instruments. The famous subminiature camera MINOX LX, which became world renowned as a spy camera, offers the highest precision. Following tradition, this generation of MINOX BR binoculars again proves MINOX's highlevel of competence in precision engineering. MINOX binoculars offer a lot for your eyes: a superb design with extremely high-resolution lens systems. The use of special glass increases the contrast so that the user is able to recognize small details even under critical light conditions. All MINOX binoculars are made of multicoated lenses. For this reason reflections are reduced and the observed results are much more brilliant. The MINOX engineers directed their attention towards an extremely short focussing distance so that even small objects can be observed from a close distance. The sturdy and extremely light weight body made of aluminum offers the necessary stability so that the MINOX binoculars may be used with confidence in extreme outdoor activities. A powerful piece of optical equipment that fits perfectly into your pocket.

MINOX Binoculars BD 8x32 BR and BD 10x42 BR now also with aspherical lense technology. In the spring of 2000 MINOX presented the BD 10x52 BR ALT binoculars with aspherical lenses to the world public for the first time. Based on the huge success of these products the 8x32 and 10x42 models have now also been fitted with this technology. The general advantage of aspherical lenses are that they are able to correct numerous optical aberrations with one lens element. The result is a much improved flatness of the field of view.
For the user this means high contrast and detail resolution right up to the edges. Moreover, the system enhances a neutral, brilliant color rendition and high light transmission. This is something nature observers and birdwatchers appreciate. With aspherical lenses the optical performance of these MINOX binoculars has now been improved even further to provide perfect rendering of the finest structures of petal and leaf markings. The exceptional nearest focusing distance (1.6 m in the 8x32 and 2.5 m in the 10x42), which also enables pin-sharp definition of insects, is an additional exciting feature.

This generation of the MINOX BD 8x32 BR and MINOX BD 10x42 BR features a maximum of top-class high technology:

- Aspheric Lens Technology
- Latest coating system for all prisms increases contrast even in low light
- Rubber reinforced aluminum body for long life and mechanical stability
- Dust-free and waterproof up to 5 m / 16.4 feet
- Extended eye relief allows a full field of view even for wearers of eye glasses
- Internal nitrogen filling to prevent lens fogging

Burris Landmark Spotting Scopes

Features premium multi coated lenses and prism, resulting in crystal clear and sharp images. In testing, the incredible optics in the 20X-60X-80mm under ideal conditions has allowed Burris to spot bullet holes in a 1000 yard target! They've made them even better this year with a charcoal rubber coating that helps quiet them down, resist scratching, and improve their resistance to weather.

Leica Televid Spotters at a Glance

To be in close proximity to the subject and to experience it intensively – that is made possible by high performance Leica Televid 62 and Leica Televid 77 spotting scopes and they're continuously adjustable 20x to 60x magnification.

The legendary high-performance Leica Televid 77 spotting scopes are now being complemented by the smaller and lighter Leica Televid 62 line of spotting scopes in four versions, thus clearing the way to applications where up to now spotting scopes were of only limited use because of their weight. All lines of spotting scopes are also available in APO-versions.

41007 40x/32x 41011 32x/26x 41009 20x/16x

Features

- Dual focusing with 3.5 and 14 turns
- Sophisticated optics with 3 lenses (Apo-Televid) for color-fringe-free viewing even under extremely poor light conditions and at high magnification
- Waterproof, all-metal housing with partial rubber armoring
- All eyepieces for Televid 77 spotting scopes can also be used on Televid 62 spotting scopes.
- Choice of Angled or Straight viewing
- The focal length of the lens of the Televid 62 spotting scope is shorter, resulting in a magnification that is 20% lower (16x, 26x, 32x, and 16x - 48x). A new version of the 32x wide-angle eyepiece that features an especially wide field of view of 40 m / yds at 1000 m / yds was designed specifically for the new Televid 62 spotting scopes.
- Photo adapter as accessory. Enables you to attach any standard reflex camera (f/10.4/800mm). The Digital Adapter makes it possible to couple the new Leica Digilux 1.

Our practice range faces southwest on the southern most tip of Texas. The backstop berm is built 100 yards from the river that divides the US from Mexico. This is a perfect spot to shoot with a steady wind from the southeast. Hitting targets out to 700 yards is relatively easy with our .308 SPHD Rifles, but at 800 yards and beyond, there is a vicious wind that swirls off the river and berm making accurate wind calls and shot calls an absolute must. Inferior optics and substandard glass just won't do. We searched the SWFA websites for the perfect spotting scope. We need something that could pull in the wind mirage, bullet trace, as well as the bullet strikes on steel at 800 to 1000 yards. We needed something to give us the edge. SWFA's Sample List (www.SampleList.com/) held our solution. We found a Leica 77mm Straight Televid display model and 20-60x eyepiece for an incredible price! We saved $350 on the scope and another $100 on the eyepiece! We saved enough money to buy one of SWFA's Super Sniper Scopes (www.SuperSniper.com/). With deals and savings like that, why would you want to shop anywhere else? Sniper's Paradise San Benito, Texas 78586 www.SnipersParadise.com

Zeiss Diascope 65 T* FL and Diascope 85 T* FL (both models come with eyepieces for straight or angled viewing). The optical systems re-designed on the basis of the Carl Zeiss Advanced Optics System (AOS) use glass material containing fluorine ions, which provides the objective lenses with superachromatic properties – with natural color rendition down to even the finest nuances, superb detail recognition and no color fringes.

Two wide-angle eyepieces with fixed magnifications and one zoom eyepiece are available for each model – including a bayonet mount with a safety catch for rapid eyepiece change. The ergonomically designed dual focusing system features two wheels for fast focusing and, if required, fine focusing with just one hand. Additional features include rotatable, generously dimensioned tripod bracket extendible sunshade with sight and leakage test and nitrogen filling.

Needless to say, the scopes are all provided with Carl Zeiss multilayer coating on all glass-to-air surfaces for maximum transmission and natural color rendition, and Carl Zeiss P coating on the roof surfaces of the reversal prisms for maximum resolution.

LASER RANGEFINDER RIFLESCOPE

A rangefinder and riflescope in one.

From the industry leader in both.

Magnify Life

WIRELESS TRIGGER REMOTE: Strap the wireless remote to your gun and you can range your target with lightning speed – tap the button and the distance appears above the crosshairs.

BDC TURRETS: When you get a range reading, simply adjust the turret to the corresponding distance and hold dead-on.

A premium 4-12x 42mm riflescope, laser rangefinder and bullet-drop compensator together at last – sized similar to a standard riflescope. A touch of a wireless trigger pad dials up the in-view range from 30 to 800 yards, and a quick turn of a turret automatically zeroes your rifle for the distance.

This is my Remington 700 that I chambered in 300WSM, it has a 25.5" Shilen heavy barrel, Sako style extractor, tactical rings, a 25 M.O.A tapered base , trigger pull of 2 pounds and a Super Sniper 10X42M scope. I can shoot ½ inch groups at 100 yards with this gun and my best 500 yard group was 1.53". I like to put up a row of five, white -10" balloons at 1200 yards and take them out one at a time which draws a lot of attention from other shooters who can see that far. I have hit targets as far as 1,500 yards by zeroing the scope 214 clicks up and giving it a couple for wind . I really like this Super Sniper/Remington 300WSM combo , it makes long range shooting seem easy.

Thanks,
Jeremy Hanks.

Signature Pos-Align Offset Ring Inserts

Signature 30mm Zee Rings

Burris 1 Inch Signature Pos-Align Offset Ring Inserts

Signature Rings also accept Pos-Align Offset Inserts so you can virtually sight-in your gun without moving the scope adjustments. Lens systems perform at their optimum when all lenses are optically centered. By keeping the internal optics centered, you'll see through the scope all of the clarity, sharpness, and brightness that the optics designers intended for you to see. The offset inserts also correct for any misalignment caused by receiver holes drilled off center, or the bases or rings being slightly off perfect center. And for you 1000 yard and other long range shooters, the need for expensive tapered bases or shimming becomes a hassle and expense of the past.

Leupold STD One Piece Bases

STD Mounts, constructed of machined steel, are versatile and available for many different rifles. They are engineered to match up with STD rings. The forward part of the base accepts a dovetail ring, locking it solidly into position. The rear ring is secured by windage adjustment screws. Long Range STD mounts provide 1/4 degree of built-in elevation, compensating for bullet drop at extreme ranges.

Leupold Quick Release Rings

Quick Release Rings allow shooters to remove and reattach a scope using Leupold's QR Mounts and still return to within half an inch of the original point-of-impact on the target. Proven in extensive testing, the key to the Quick Release's reliability is the super-close machining tolerances at the heart of the patented lever mechanism. All you have to do is turn the lever forward and an eccentric on the lever shaft engages the base of the ring, pulling it down and forward on the base, locking it solidly into its "zero" position.

Leupold QRW / PRW Bases

Leupold offers a complete line of steel cross-slot mounts—the Leupold QRW™ and PRW mounts. Use the QRW mounts for detachable accuracy. They use an adjustable lever mechanism to lock the rings securely to the base. When mounted, simply rotate the spring loaded levers into the desired position to keep them out of the way. Use the PRW mounts when a cross-slot format is desired or necessary but detachability isn't. Leupold PRW rings secure directly to the base with two screws for rock solid dependability.

Leupold Mark 4 Mounting System

Leupold's steel construction American-made Mark 4 mounting systems are engineered to be as rugged and reliable as the Leupold Mark 4 scopes they're intended to secure. These mounts employ a slot and spline design, and come in one and two piece configurations. Mark 4 bases accept Mark 4, cross-slot, and QRW/PRW rings. The AR15/M16 model is specifically designed for use with handle mounting configurations.

RING GUIDELINES

50mm Riflescopes will almost always use HIGH rings in a given style. In certain instances, such as with extremely heavy barrels or some makes of firearm, SUPER HIGH rings may be necessary.

42-45mm Riflescopes will almost always use MEDIUM rings in a given style. In certain instances, 45mm scopes may require HIGH rings.

40mm Riflescopes will almost always have enough clearance with LOW rings in a given style, though MEDIUM rings will give slightly more clearance, particularly when using a barrel with a thicker shank portion or a heavier contour.

28-36mm Riflescopes will almost always use LOW rings in a given style. Again, in certain instances of a heavy barrel or heavy shank portion of a custom barrel, MEDIUM rings may have to be used, but LOW rings will almost always suffice.

20mm Riflescopes will almost always be able to use LOW rings, but in some cases may also use SUPER LOW rings. In this instance, bolt handle clearance of the OCULAR bell will come into play more so than objective/barrel clearance and should be carefully considered.

VX-L 50mm Riflescopes will almost always use LOW rings, but in some instances, where there is a very small barrel shank or relatively light barrel, they will be able to use SUPER LOW rings for the lowest practical mounting. Again, as in 20mm riflescopes, OCULAR bell versus bolt handle clearance will be more critical in many cases than objective bell/barrel clearance.

VX-L 56mm Riflescopes will almost always use LOW rings, but in some instances, where there is a very pronounced barrel shank or relatively heavy barrel, they will use MEDIUM rings.

VX-L Riflescopes can not be mounted in SUPER LOW rings with a one-piece base, as the power selector ring will impinge on the rear of the base.

SWAROVSKI

Me and Li'l Bunny Foo Foo (my M-14) at our make shift desert range somewhere outside of FOB Bernstein during OIF II. During our train-up phase, I purchased a Super Sniper 16X with Butler Creek Caps through SWFA. I then mounted it with A.R.M.S. scope rings and QD base to my rifle. This particular day we had set up targets at 100m (to confirm zero) then 500, 600, 700 and 1300 (for s--ts and giggles). We had a 12 mph full value wind blowing right to left and it was getting unGodly hot, like it always did during the Iraqi summers. After confirming my zero, I dialed in for 700 and proceeded to tag the "E" type silhouette. I was able to place all my shots into the target including a head shot that would've facilitated instant flaccid incapacitation. Once I had rezeroed when we got in-country, my rifle held it's zero despite countless firing solutions and jarring rides in my HMMWV. The scope adjustments easily put me out to 1300 meters using 175 gr. M118LR. I wasn't able to consistantly hit at 1300 because the rifle was only a 2 MOA rifle (that's my story and I'm sticking with it), but the scope definitely had the come ups to take me there. On another patrol, we were overwatching a target area and I wanted to test my range finding ability with the mil-dot reticle. We tested it against our LRAS3 (Long Range Advanced Scout Surveillance System--a high speed laser range finder). I sighted in on a "haji" and ranged him to approximately 650 meters out. The LRAS3 read 670. I then ranged on another "haji" further out and came up with 1100 meters. LRAS3 lased him at 1080 meters.

Needless to say, I was very impressed with the mil-dot system on my scope. Since getting back, the scope found a new home on my brand new .308 Winchester M70 Stealth. I look forward to breaking in the rifle and doing a lot of long range shooting with it. I'm just waiting on my reloader to come in the mail (I miss having free match grade ammo at my disposal). My next rifle (Rem 700 PSS) will sport the Super Sniper 10X on top. I just wish my freakin' per diem check would come in sooner!! Hugs and Kisses for a great product!!

The term "trophy" when referring to game has several meanings. To a new hunter a trophy could be the first deer harvested whether it be a doe or a spike. To the veteran hunter it could be anything larger than previously harvested. Some go by width others judge a trophy by how many points it has. Up north, trophy status could be determined by how much it weighed. With horned species it seems to be centered around how long each horn measures. On this trip to Austria I learned about another measure of trophy status that has nothing to do with horns, antlers or weight. It has to do with respect. I was fortunate to draw a class 1 male, which meant that I would be hunting a mature male Chamois. Game animals in Austria are very tightly controlled and not many permits are issued a year. They know almost exactly how many animals are in a specific area and how many can be harvested. The area I was hunting seemed to have a descent population. The first day my guide (who did not speak English) and myself had spotted several Chamois but they were either the wrong sex or too young.

The next day we spent the entire day from sun up to sun down walking up and down the mountains in the rain and did not see a single animal. Fortunately the forecast for the next day was in our favor and so was luck because we stumbled across the ultimate class 1 male. The sun had already went behind the mountain and the light was fading when we spotted an unusual Chamois that had only one horn. My guide communicated to me the best he could that this was a very special animal in a very excited fashion. We decided to stalk and take this trophy quickly. We were on different mountains that faced each other and both of us were coming down so I knew we would meet in the middle.

With the light fading we had to set up and make the shot from about 250 meters. The shot was good and down he went. My guide was beside himself and could not wait to get a closer look. He broke off a branch and gave me a piece and put a piece in the Chamois mouth as his last meal. I was supposed to wear my piece on my hat as a sign of being successful. There is a lot of tradition in Europe and a lot of respect for the animals that we do not see in the U.S. Once we got back to the cabin we were able to speak with someone that spoke English and German. They told me that a mature male is usually 7-8 and the one we took was 12-13. He had fallen off the mountain at some point in his life and broke off one horn but managed to survive. They were so impressed with the fact that this guy had lived 12 years after suffering such a major injuring. Never once the entire time I was there did anyone talk about how long the horns were on any Chamois, they only spoke of how mature the one they shot was. At dinner all the guides wanted to see this Chamois in person because they could not believe how old he was and that he only had one horn. Some German hunters joined us for dinner and had a Roe deer head on the table with them that they had harvested that day, it had the branch in its mouth and was displayed on a fancy serving tray. Seemed odd to me but normal for them. Respect and admiration for surviving so long in the wild is the Austrian measure of a trophy. Just goes to show you how different things are in other countries.

Talley Lightweight Aluminum Scope Rings have the base built into the ring!

Talley Lightweight One-Piece Aluminum Scope Mounts

The one-piece construction of the Tally Lightweight Aluminum Scope Mount is unique. The rigid design has no joint between the scope and the rifle. The Tally Lightweight unitized design eliminates the possibility of an "out of alignment" interface or "loose connection" between the ring and base of traditional two-piece designs. Ultimately this provides more strength and durability than rival steel rings and bases, accomplished with a lighter overall weight. By extruding the 7000 series aluminum known for its durability and then precision CNC machining the mount to its final design we can provide you with the strongest, lightest mount system on the market. These mounts are for scopes with one inch tubes unless specified otherwise.

I'm a 12 years old and last month I went on a safari in Africa. So one day on the safari we were sitting in the blind for about 2 hours before it happened! A wart-hog charge from behind it was about 50 yards away! I thought to myself what am I doing! I dont have enough time to load my .30-06 Sig-Sauer with my Swaovski scope!! So belive it or not I pulled out my knfe! Right before it came and my PH shot and missed!! I stabbed it in the back and my PH shot it twice on the left side with his .38 special!! That moment I was the most thankfull I've ever been for going to Africa and having such a great time and experience! Thank you Uncle Harry for inviting me!

SUREFIRE M2 CENTURION

Compact (palm size) high-intensity incandescent flashlight for tactical and duty use, or conditions requiring an enhanced grip, similar to our C2 but slightly longer and slightly heavier due to integral shock isolation system to withstand repeated recoil or impact. Puts out a smooth, brilliant, pre-focused tactical-level beam with four times the light of a big two D-cell flashlight — bright enough to temporarily blind and disorient a person by impairing out his night-adapted vision. Light output may be nearly doubled with optional P61 lamp. Patented rubber grip ring allows the light to be operated with a handgun using the Rogers/SureFire technique.

Hard Anodized M2.....$168.00

Light output may be nearly doubled with optional MN11 lamp. Features integral shock isolation system to withstand repeated recoil or impact. Experienced hunters are aware that fatigue plays a major role in missed or poorly placed shots. Now, the Butler Creek Sling solves this problem. The sling's special shock absorbing feature reduces "felt weight" that makes your shoulder and neck tire. Plus, it molds around the shooter's forearm to stabilize barrel weave. Features of these very affordable slings include four shell loops, quick adjustment, and quiet, non-slip grippers.
